Carole Taking Competition In Stride at Big Pageant

By ROBERT HARROD
Editor, The Herald

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — With the toughest part of the Miss America Pageant completed, Carole Weiler, Miss Ohio, headed into the swim suit competition tonight.

Last night in spacious Convention Hall, Carole staged a three-minute dramatic skit as her part of the talent competition here.

Although Carole's emotional act as a wartime nurse didn't top the talent, it was well-received by the audience.

Carole's relieved that it's over. She has dreaded the talent division most of all. Now she is looking forward to comparatively easy swim suit and formal gown competitions tonight and tomorrow.

WINNERS of last night's talent division were Miss District of Columbia, Virginia N. Pailles; Miss Connecticut, Diana Martha Klug, and Miss Pennsylvania, Lois J. Piercy, in an unprecedented three-way tie.

Winner of last night's swim suit competition was Miss Washington, Sharon J. Vaughan, of Seattle.

Carole, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Weiler, 204 N. Pickaway St.

Already the 25 Pickaway Countians on hand here for the four-day pageant are excited about Carole's chances of becoming Miss America of 1960.

She went over big with the huge crowd which jammed the famous Boardwalk during Tuesday's parade. There are rumors that she has a chance to get into the top 10. However, only the judges know what the standings are from day to day.

Carole's talent skit last night was based on a scene from a wartime novel. She wore a stark white nurses uniform and spoke to a dead soldier's grave. Sounds of battle raged in the background. To end the skit she sang a portion of "My Buddy."

THE THREE talent winners showed a wide variety of abilities. Miss Connecticut displayed clothing she designed.

Miss Pennsylvania displayed a prize-winning modern painting and played the flute. Miss District of Columbia sang a semi-classical song.

The swim suit winner was brown-haired Miss Vaughan from Seattle. She is 21-year-old beauty with a 36-22-36 arrangement. She is 5-7 and weighs 120 pounds.

One of the reasons for thinking Carole has a good opportunity to get into the top 10 is her tremendous showing in Tuesday's parade.

She was a real sparkler on the Ohio float. At one point the float driver forgot to warn Carole he was starting to move again. She lost her balance, but recovered with a huge smile and received a big hand from the spectators.

The parade was a grind. Carole

GE Increases Personnel to Boost Output

An additional 40 employees are being added to boost plant output to new high levels, according to E. G. Grigg, plant manager of the local General Electric Plant. This will be effective next week.

Also, as of this Saturday, the plant is going to a full six-day 48-hour operation for the balance of September.

This is the result of growth in demand of newer light sources to make possible better lighting levels, according to plant officials. "One new product line called High Output has twice the output from the same fluorescent tube."

"The other new line, Power Groove, is the brightest fluorescent light source available in an eight foot tube. These are being manufactured in the new recently completed plant addition," Grigg stated.

These new employees will bring plant employment to more than 700 which is an increase of 130 since the first of the year.

mounted the float at about 7:30 p. m. and was still on it well after 10:30 p. m. At the end of the long trek down the Boardwalk, she was still smiles. Some other contestants wilted somewhat under the heat and strain.

TODAY Carole was to rehearse again for the Saturday night television show with all the girls, then have a few free moments late this afternoon.

Her first breakfast with the judges, a very important part of the pageant, was today. She meets the balance of the nine judges tomorrow at breakfast.

Through the rugged competition, Carole is still having the most exciting time in her 18 years. She says she'll remember it always.

Nehru Says Border Dispute With Red China Grows Grave

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A bitter exchange of notes between India and Red China was laid before Parliament here today and Prime Minister Nehru said Premier Chou En-lai's latest letter adds to the gravity of the border crisis.

"Step by step their policy has become more rigid," Nehru said. Each nation accused the other of aggression and each demanded that the other withdraw its forces from frontier areas whose ownership is in dispute. India offered one concession — to make the Longju area a temporary no man's land pending negotiation.

But both sides renewed their claims to Longju, the isolated post which Red Chinese troops seized nearly two weeks ago in a gunfight with Indian frontier guards. The Chinese warned India against trying to retake it.

The seriousness of the situation is highlighted by Chou's letter, made public in Peiping Wednesday, Nehru told the upper house of Parliament. With bristling finality, Chou rejected Indian protests against what Nehru called aggression in the Longju area.

A new aspect of the exchange, however, was the Indian offer to make Longju a temporary no man's land while the ownership of the area is discussed. Previous Indian statements have indicated the Chinese would be pushed out of the place unless they withdrew voluntarily.

The note was handed to the Communist Chinese ambassador here Wednesday, the same day that Red Chinese Premier En-lai was making public in Peiping a letter accusing the Indians of aggression and demanding that they withdraw.

In the batch of papers opened in Parliament in advance of a debate on the border dispute, were four other notes from Peiping.

Tomahawk-Wielder Kills Man in Theater Attack

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A Polish immigrant, Bogdan Mazurski, 36, was charged today with the tomahawk murder of one man and the attempted murder of 10 other people in a theater.

Police said he took a tomahawk from his rooming house Wednesday, went inside the theater and after about three minutes took the tomahawk from under his coat and began an indiscriminate attack on people in the audience. He was arrested after a struggle.

One a week ago claimed Longju was on the Tibetan side of the border and charged that India committed "deliberate aggression" by maintaining troops here.

The note further charged that Indian troops "brazenly" occupied Chinese territory at several other points along the Tibetan border since June 28, thereby creating an "extremely dangerous" situation.

Another note charged Indian aircraft with six violations of the Communist Chinese borders since July.

In his letter Chou charged that Indians, not the Chinese, actually were the "trespassers" in border incidents, and were "shielding" (Tibetan) rebel bandits" along the frontier. Many Tibetan refugees from Communist rule have fled to India.

The Industrial Development Committee of the Circleville Chamber of Commerce will hold a dinner meeting at 6 p. m. tomorrow in Tink's Tavern.

The committee has invited guests to meet with it and discuss Circleville's advantages for further industrial development here.

A detailed brochure will be distributed describing the city, its labor market, strategic location, statistics and other information of value to industries on the lookout for possible expansion.

In addition, Ned Harden will present slides of Circleville, its present slides of Circleville, its and other areas and points of interest.

GUESTS INVITED include Chuck Eeles and Mary White, Ohio Fuel Gas Co.; Bill Welch and a Mr. Gruesser, Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.;

L. E. Ward Jr. and Jack Adams, Norfolk & Western Railroad; Vic Moore and Wayne C. Fletcher, Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, and Al Redman, Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

Members of the local Industrial Development Committee are Larry Varble, Harden, Darrell Hatfield, Ed Grigg, Judge William D. Radcliff, chairman, Eldred Parsons, Robert K. Harrod and Karl Mason.

Rights Legislation Could Stall Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The threat of a blowup over civil rights legislation caused leaders to abandon hope today of adjourning Congress this week.

Instead, the Senate started planning for a session early Monday hoping that, unless the civil rights bomb explodes, one more long day can complete the year's legislative work.

The threat of still further delays rested on the possibility of a strong Southern battle against extending the life of the Civil Rights Commission, which issued this week a report many Southerners didn't like.

Any such move almost certainly would bring on a counter-drive by advocates of strong civil rights legislation to enact extensive new laws.

With the fuse hissing, no one could say definitely that the bomb would explode, but none dismissed the possibility.

Other major pieces of the year's legislative pattern started falling quickly into place.

The House was ready to accept a third-try housing bill which the Senate passed 86-7 Wednesday and which had assurance of administration approval. President Eisenhower has successfully vetoed two previous housing bills, which he called inflationary.

A showdown was assured during the day on Eisenhower's veto of a second public works money bill which reached him only Wednesday. The House adjourned before it could receive the message Eisenhower had prepared, but arranged to vote today. And Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas alerted the Senate to be ready for a mid-afternoon vote on the veto if the House overrides the President's objections.

House action sent to Eisenhower.

Police Check On Finding of Obscene Photo

Circleville Police today are investigating the mysterious appearance of an obscene picture found here yesterday.

The indecent photo was found on an E. Union St. sidewalk yesterday by a young girl. The youth said her attention was drawn to the picture because it had a penny on top of it.

Officers said the folded picture apparently was placed on the sidewalk. The young girl took the poorly printed photo to her parents who in turn notified the police.

Police Chief Elmer Merriman and Sgt. Leroy Hawks today urged children and parents to contact local headquarters immediately on finding such pictures.

The policemen said every effort will be made here to find the source of the indecent photo.

U.S. Employment Shows Decline

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both employment and unemployment declined in August. The job total, although curbed by the steel strike, still was a record for August.

The Labor Department announced Thursday that employment, affected by a big seasonal drop in farming as well as the steel shutdown and early auto industry model changeover, declined to 67,241,000. This was down 353,000 from the 67,594,000 employed in July.

Unemployment in August declined to 3,426,000, or 318,000 less than the 3,744,000 idle in July.

Seymour Wolfbein, deputy assistant secretary of labor, said that aside from the steel strike layoffs, the "underlying employment situation is very good."

Big Beacon Is Doused

NEW YORK (AP)—The Empire State building has doused its stationary, all-night beacon until Nov. 1 in order to help migratory birds. The light caused the birds to crash into the building.

er a bill raising from 3 to 4 cents a gallon the tax on gasoline and other motor fuels effective Oct. 1 to assure continued construction of superhighways throughout the nation.

But the civil rights issue, and the controversy always provoked by the foreign aid money bill to which it is attached, held the key to adjournment possibilities. The measure goes before the Senate Saturday.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in an interview there is no chance that work on the money bill, the last major legislation of the session, can be completed before Monday.

Commie Troops Attacking Laos

Special U.N. Team Booked for Probe

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Communist North Viet Nam troops, crossed into Laos and attacked three army posts in Phong Saly province, the army said today. Government troops suffered losses but the number was not announced.

A communique said the three posts were clustered 20 miles inside the Laos border directly west of Dien Bien Phu, where the French army made its last bloody stand during the Indochinese war in 1954.

The attacks in the far northern province occurred Tuesday night but the news was not received at Vientiane army headquarters until today, a spokesman said.

Transport planes continue to fly in U.S. emergency military aid, consisting chiefly of infantry weapons and ammunition.

Meanwhile, a four-nation team of United Nations diplomats hopes to fly to Laos Friday to probe claims that the Communists are aggressors against the tiny Southeast Asian kingdom.

The special U. N. fact-finding subcommittee, created Tuesday by the Security Council despite Soviet protests, will fly to the Laotian capital of Vientiane, arriving there probably Sunday.

Heading the team will be Shinnichi Shibusawa of the Japanese foreign office, his country's former ambassador to Thailand, Laos and Spain.

Favorite Son Issue Splits Ohio's Dems

CLEVELAND (AP) — Democratic ward leaders of Cuyahoga County have voted to endorse Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) for the party's presidential nomination. It marks an open split with state Democratic headquarters.

The move Wednesday night to support Kennedy was led by Ray T. Miller, party chairman of the state's most populous county, and came only hours after the state party organization announced plans to draft Gov. Michael V. DiSalle as a favorite son candidate.

The county party leaders also invited Kennedy to enter a slate of delegate candidates in Ohio and to announce officially his candidacy for president when he speaks at a Democratic rally here Sept. 27.

"I have the greatest respect for DiSalle as governor," Miller told the ward leaders, "but when it comes to the question of a candidate for President of the United States, I want a serious candidate for that office."

Miller told the ward chieftains that "time after time" Ohio Democrats had been left "on the outside looking in" because they had supported favorite sons instead of supporting candidates who won the presidential nominations.

As a result of this, Miller added, party members of this state too often had been ignored or slighted in matters of patronage and other influence.

Vehicle Stalls On Rail Tracks In Maryland

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK, MD. (AP)—A St. Louis-to-Baltimore passenger train rammed into a loaded school bus in mountainous western Maryland today, killing seven of the 26 children on the bus. Eight or 10 other children were reported seriously hurt.

The Baltimore and Ohio's east-bound Diplomat rammed the bus at 8:30 a. m. (EDT) at a grade crossing marked by a flashing light and bell. The signals were operating at the time, the railroad said.

The bus driver, Leroy Campbell, 49, told authorities that after the bus stalled he opened the door and tried to get the children out. After a half-dozen or so scrambled over the door, the rest jammed the doorway, blocking it.

Then the engine hit the bus broadside, knocking the vehicle down the track on its side 40 to 50 feet.

Campbell, who owned the bus, has driven the same route for four years. He has a safe driving record with the county school system for more than 20 years.

No one seemed to know what caused the bus to stall on the crossing.

Campbell and all the injured were rushed to an Oakland, Md., hospital, about four miles away, by every available ambulance, station wagon and car which could be summoned quickly.

Mountain Lake Park is approximately 40 miles from Cumberland and about 180 miles from Baltimore.

Three of the seven dead were identified as Roy O. Hinkle Jr., Lee Hoffman and Nancy Lee Harvey.

The school children, ranging in age from 8 to 14, were on their way to Southern High and Dennett Elementary schools at Oakland, county seat of westernmost Garrett County.

All the children were from the Deer Park-Loch Lynn area, a farming section in the southern part of the county.

Books, shoes and bits of clothing and pocketbooks were scattered along the right-of-way.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where the injured were taken, was crowded by mid-morning with nurses, doctors and clergymen. So, some of the injured were taken by ambulance to Memorial and Sacred Heart hospitals in Cumberland to relieve the crush.

The engineer, Otto Droege of Cumberland, reported the train was going about 50 m.p.h.—normal for that stretch of track—when he saw the school bus start across the crossing ahead.

Then the bus stalled, Droege reported, and he threw the brakes on emergency stop. The speed tape showed the train was going about 20 m.p.h. when the engine hit the bus.

Sheriff Checks Elevator Entry

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department today was investigating a burglary at the Teegarden Grain Elevator in Duval.

Deputy Dwight Radcliff said the burglary was reported yesterday. He said entry was gained by removing a screen and breaking a window.

The deputy said four money bags containing about $24 in change were taken. One of the bags, still containing $15.50, was found along the railroad near the elevator.

Radcliff said the intruders also removed two small drawers from a safe. The drawers contained assorted papers.

A neighbor living in the area told the deputy that she noticed dogs barking and heard a crash at 2 a. m. Wednesday, but did not investigate.

Idle Pay Claims Drop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Both employment compensation shown and continuing claims for unemployment dropped for the week ended Sept. 5.

15,000 To Guard Khrushchev Here

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has fashioned the strongest security shield ever to protect Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev from potential assassins, demonstrators, hecklers and crackpots.

Up to 15,000 policemen, plainclothesmen, National Guardsmen and government security agents will join forces in a massive, carefully coordinated plan to watch over the Soviet dictator every foot of the way.

About 2,500 will be deployed and waiting along the route into Washington Tuesday when Khrushchev steps off a giant TU114 turboprop jet liner at nearby Andrews Air Force Base to begin his 13-day coast to coast tour.

About a dozen Soviet secret police, led by Security Chief Nicolai Zakharov, are to be part of this unprecedented security network. A selected number will be allowed to pack guns.

Five of these Soviet security agents already have inspected the route Khrushchev will follow in his swing through six cities and are reported satisfied with arrangements for protecting their chief.

The security arrangements, checked and double checked in painstaking detail, include protection not only for Khrushchev and his family but also for the 108 other Soviets, including newsmen, who are to accompany him.

These precautions have been adopted partly because of a long held fear that Khrushchev's visit would arouse bitter anti-Communist demonstrations along the way particularly from Hungarian and other eastern European refugee groups.

Congress Shuns Veto by Ike

Second Public Works Bill Gets Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress today overrode President Eisenhower's veto of the second public works money bill—the first time this has been done in six years, eight months in the White House.

Senate action put the bill over in the face of the President's objections, since the House had voted 280-121 to override. That was 12 votes more than the two-thirds margin required.

In the Senate the count was 72-23, or 8 more than the required two-thirds.

The $1,185,309,093 measure, a perennial congressional favorite, contains construction or planning funds for flood control, navigation and reclamation projects for every one of the 50 states.

The President vetoed the bill because it contained money for more than 60 projects which are not included in his budget program. He vetoed an earlier bill for the same reason but the House last week sustained that veto by a one-vote margin.

On today's roll call, 20 Republicans and 260 Democrats voted to override. Five Democrats and 116 Republicans voted to sustain the veto.

The House voted soon after Eisenhower's veto message was read.

In the message, Eisenhower suggested that Congress enact a stop-gap measure to continue public works projects now under way.

Late last month, Eisenhower vetoed the original money bill on the ground it contained 67 projects he had not included in his budget. He said then, and repeated today, that those projects "will ultimately cost our taxpayers more than 800 million dollars."

Ah, that Cool Wave Finally Reaches Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cool Canadian air moved into the central section of the country today, and temperatures plummeted.

Early readings in the northern Plains and upper Mississippi Valley were 30 to 40 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier.

Hours after the cool air swept down, it had moved into the lower Great Lakes.

nist demonstrations along the way particularly from Hungarian and other eastern European refugee groups.

Thus far, however, these fears have proved groundless. Surprisingly few threats against Khrushchev's life have been picked up.

New Gas Tax Won't Solve Ohio Problem

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Despite agreement between the U.S. Senate and House on a penny-a-gallon gasoline tax increase to keep the interstate road program going, Ohio's highway financing troubles aren't over.

There's a possibility, State Highway Director Everett S. Preston said today, that the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads will exercise "contract control" and pay out the federal dollars on a month-to-month basis instead of at the start of the fiscal year next July.

Preston said he hopes to go to Washington before the week is over to discuss the situation with Bertram D. Tallamy, federal highway administrator and the man who will decide whether contract control goes into effect.

The federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost of the interstate program. Its goal is a 41,000-mile network of superhighways, connecting the nation's major cities, by the early 1970's.

However, as the result of an amendment to the original congressional act of 1956, the program must not operate in the red. The one-cent federal gas hike which both houses of Congress have okayed will keep it in the black, but probably will force a 50-million-dollar cut in Ohio's planned interstate program (46 million in federal money, the rest in local and state matching funds).

And the temporary federal gas tax will not bring in the needed money fast enough to pay all the states next July 1, Preston declared today.

That's if all the states involved push their part of the interstate program as hard as possible, as Ohio has done, Preston added.

So one solution being considered by Tallamy is to give the money out on a month-to-month basis. Preston opposes this because it would hold back the Ohio Highway Department on letting contracts for the interstate work.

The interstate projects — with the 90 per cent paid by the federal government—make a big difference in a state's contract lettings. Last year, for example, Ohio awarded $98,865,458 worth of contracts in the first nine bid-openings of the year.

Of that, 22 interstate projects amounted for $76,559,561.

In nine bid-openings this year, the state has awarded $52,473,420 worth of contracts, with only one interstate project (Ohio 1 in Franklin County), worth about 5 1/2 million dollars.

The 10th bid-opening of 1959 will be Tuesday morning, and Preston has decided to leave federal projects in because of the House-Senate agreement on the gas tax hike. Included is one interstate project, the 12 supporting piers for the Toledo Expressway's south end bridge across the Maumee River.

At latest estimate, the Highway Department figured total cost of all jobs on the Sept. 15 bid-opening schedule at about 9.2 million dollars.

With Ohio already committed to spend 40 million dollars with no promise of repayment from the federal government, Preston took all federal aid projects off the Sept. 1 bid-opening. As a result, it was the smallest of the year, with $1,363,217 worth of contracts awarded.

Also on next Tuesday's bid-opening schedule will be a 1.3-mile section of Canton's urban expressway system, including five bridges and overpasses, and an eight-tenths mile section of Ohio 7 near Steubenville, where four-lane highway will be put in.

There are 15 projects and 48 miles of work in all.

Quite cool today with intermittent showers. Much cooler tonight. Friday will be sunny and continued cool. High today, 74. Low tonight, 52-56. High tomorrow in the 70's.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The threat of a blowup over civil rights legislation caused leaders to abandon hope today of adjourning Congress this week.

Instead, the Senate started planning for a session early Monday hoping that, unless the civil rights bomb explodes, one more long day can complete the year's legislative work.

The threat of still further delays rested on the possibility of a strong Southern battle against extending the life of the Civil Rights Commission, which issued this week a report many Southerners didn't like.

Any such move almost certainly would bring on a counter-drive by advocates of strong civil rights legislation to enact extensive new laws.

With the fuse hissing, no one could say definitely that the bomb would explode, but none dismissed the possibility.

Other major pieces of the year's legislative pattern started falling quickly into place.

The House was ready to accept a third-try housing bill which the Senate passed 86-7 Wednesday and which had assurance of administration approval. President Eisenhower has successfully vetoed two previous housing bills, which he called inflationary.

A showdown was assured during the day on Eisenhower's veto of a second public works money bill which reached him only Wednesday. The House adjourned before it could receive the message Eisenhower had prepared, but arranged to vote today. And Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas alerted the Senate to be ready for a mid-afternoon vote on the veto if the House overrides the President's objections.

Circleville Police today are investigating the mysterious appearance of an obscene picture found here yesterday.

The indecent photo was found on an E. Union St. sidewalk yesterday by a young girl. The youth said her attention was drawn to the picture because it had a penny on top of it.

Officers said the folded picture apparently was placed on the sidewalk. The young girl took the poorly printed photo to her parents who in turn notified the police.

Police Chief Elmer Merriman and Sgt. Leroy Hawks today urged children and parents to contact local headquarters immediately on finding such pictures.

The policemen said every effort will be made here to find the source of the indecent photos.

U.S. Employment Shows Decline

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both employment and unemployment declined in August. The job total, although curbed by the steel strike, still was a record for August.

The Labor Department announced Thursday that employment, affected by a big seasonal drop in farming as well as the steel shutdown and early auto industry model changeover, declined to 67,241,000. This was down 353,000 from the 67,594,000 employed in July.

Unemployment in August declined to 3,426,000, or 318,000 less than the 3,744,000 idle in July.

Seymour Wolfbein, deputy assistant secretary of labor, said that aside from the steel strike layoffs, the "underlying employment situation is very good."

Big Beacon Is Doused

NEW YORK (AP)—The Empire State building has doused its stationary, all-night beacon until Nov. 1 in order to help migratory birds. The light caused the birds to crash into the building.

er a bill raising from 3 to 4 cents a gallon the tax on gasoline and other motor fuels effective Oct. 1 to assure continued construction of superhighways throughout the nation.

But the civil rights issue, and the controversy always provoked by the foreign aid money bill to which it is attached, held the key to adjournment possibilities. The measure goes before the Senate Saturday.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in an interview there is no chance that work on the money bill, the last major legislation of the session, can be completed before Monday.

Commie Troops Attacking Laos

SPECIAL U.N. Team Booked for Probe

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Communist North Viet Nam troops, crossed into Laos and attacked three army posts in Phong Saly province, the army said today. Government troops suffered losses but the number was not announced.

A communique said the three posts were clustered 20 miles inside the Laos border directly west of Dien Bien Phu, where the French army made its last bloody stand during the Indochinese war in 1954.

The attacks in the far northern province occurred Tuesday night but the news was not received at Vientiane army headquarters until today, a spokesman said.

Transport planes continue to fly in U.S. emergency military aid, consisting chiefly of infantry weapons and ammunition.

Meanwhile, a four-nation team of United Nations diplomats hopes to fly to Laos Friday to probe claims that the Communists are aggressors against the tiny South-east Asian kingdom.

The special U. N. fact-finding subcommittee, created Tuesday by the Security Council despite Soviet protests, will fly to the Laotian capital of Vientiane, arriving there probably Sunday.

Heading the team will be Shinnichi Shibusawa of the Japanese foreign office, his country's former ambassador to Thailand, Laos and Spain.

Favorite Son Issue Splits Ohio's Dems

CLEVELAND (AP) — Democratic ward leaders of Cuyahoga County have voted to endorse Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) for the party's presidential nomination. It marks an open split with state Democratic headquarters.

The move Wednesday night to support Kennedy was led by Ray T. Miller, party chairman of the state's most populous county, and came only hours after the state party organization announced plans to draft Gov. Michael V. DiSalle as a favorite son candidate.

The county party leaders also invited Kennedy to enter a slate of delegate candidates in Ohio and to announce officially his candidacy for president when he speaks at a Democratic rally here Sept. 27.

"I have the greatest respect for DiSalle as governor," Miller told the ward leaders, "but when it comes to the question of a candidate for President of the United States, I want a serious candidate for that office."

Miller told the ward chieftains that "time after time" Ohio Democrats had been left "on the outside looking in" because they had supported favorite sons instead of supporting candidates who won the presidential nominations.

As a result of this, Miller added, party members of this state too often had been ignored or slighted in matters of patronage and other influence.

Vehicle Stalls On Rail Tracks In Maryland

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK, MD. (AP)—A St. Louis - Baltimore passenger train rammed into a loaded school bus in mountainous western Maryland today, killing seven of the 26 children on the bus. Eight or 10 other children were reported seriously hurt.

The Baltimore and Ohio's east-bound Diplomat rammed the bus at 8:30 a.m. (EDT) at a grade crossing marked by a flashing light and bell. The signals were operating at the time, the railroad said.

The bus driver, Leroy Campbell, 49, told authorities that after the bus stalled he opened the door and tried to get the children out. After a half-dozen or so scrambled out the door, the rest jammed the doorway, blocking it.

Then the engine hit the bus broadside, knocking the vehicle down the track on its side 40 to 50 feet.

Campbell, who owned the bus, has driven the same route for four years. He has a safe driving record with the county school system for more than 20 years.

No one seemed to know what caused the bus to stall on the crossing.

Campbell and all the injured were rushed to an Oakland, Md., hospital, about four miles away, by every available ambulance, station wagon and car which could be summoned quickly.

Mountain Lake Park is approximately 40 miles from Cumberland and about 180 miles from Baltimore.

Three of the seven dead were identified as Roy O. Hinkle Jr., Lee Hoffman and Nancy Lee Harvey.

The school children, ranging in ages from 8 to 14, were on their way to Southern High and Dennett Elementary schools at Oakland, county seat of westernmost Garrett County.

All the children were from the Deer Park-Loch Lynn area, a farming section in the southern part of the county.

Books, shoes and bits of clothing and pocketbooks were scattered along the right-of-way.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where the injured were taken, was crowded by mid-morning with nurses, doctors and clergymen. So, some of the injured were taken by ambulance to Memorial and Sacred Heart hospitals in Cumberland to relieve the crush.

The engineer, Otto Droege of Cumberland, reported the train was going about 50 m.p.h.—normal for that stretch of track — when he saw the school bus start across the crossing ahead.

Then the bus stalled, Droege reported, and he threw the brakes on emergency stop. The speed tape showed the train was going about 20 m.p.h. when the engine hit the bus.

Sheriff Checks Elevator Entry

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department today was investigating a burglary at the Teegarden Grain Elevator in Duval.

Deputy Dwight Radcliff said the burglary was reported yesterday. He said entry was gained by removing a screen and breaking a window.

The deputy said four money bags containing about $24 in change were taken. One of the bags, still containing $15.50, was found along the railroad near the elevator.

Radcliff said the intruders also removed two small drawers from a safe. The drawers contained assorted papers.

A neighbor living in the area told the deputy that she noticed dogs barking and heard a crash at 2 a. m. Wednesday, but did not investigate.

15,000 To Guard Khrushchev Here

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has fashioned the strongest security shield ever to protect Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev from potential assassins, demonstrators, hecklers and crackpots.

Up to 15,000 policemen, plainclothesmen, National Guardsmen and government security agents will join forces in a massive, carefully coordinated plan to watch over the Soviet dictator every foot of the way.

About 2,500 will be deployed and waiting along the route into Washington Tuesday when Khrushchev steps off a giant TU114 turboprop jet liner at nearby Andrews Air Force Base to begin his 13-day coast to coast tour.

About a dozen Soviet secret police, led by Security Chief Nikolai Zakharov, are to be part of this unprecedented security network. A selected number will be allowed to pack guns.

Five of these Soviet security agents already have inspected the route Khrushchev will follow in his swing through six cities and are reported satisfied with arrangements for protecting their chief.

The security arrangements, checked and double checked in painstaking detail, include protection not only for Khrushchev and his family but also for the 108 other Soviets, including newsmen, who are to accompany him.

These precautions have been adopted partly because of a long held fear that Khrushchev's visit would arouse bitter anti-Communist demonstrations along the way particularly from Hungarian and other eastern European refugee groups.

Thus far, however, these fears have proved groundless. Surprisingly few threats against Khrushchev's life have been picked up.

New Gas Tax Won't Solve Ohio Problem

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Despite agreement between the U.S. Senate and House on a penny-a-gallon gasoline tax increase to keep the interstate road program going, Ohio's highway - financing troubles aren't over.

There's a possibility, State Highway Director Everett S. Preston said today, that the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads will exercise "contract control" and pay out the federal dollars on a month-to-month basis instead of at the start of the fiscal year next July.

Preston said he hopes to go to Washington before the week is over to discuss the situation with Bertram D. Tallamy, federal highway administrator and the man who will decide whether contract control goes into effect.

The federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost of the interstate program. Its goal is a 41,000-mile network of superhighways, connecting the nation's major cities, by the early 1970's.

However, as the result of an amendment to the original congressional act of 1956, the program must not operate in the red. The one-cent federal gas hike which both houses of Congress have okayed will keep it in the black, but probably will force a 50-million-dollar cut in Ohio's planned interstate program (46 million in federal money, the rest in local and state matching funds).

And the temporary federal gas tax will not bring in the needed money fast enough to pay all the states next July 1, Preston declared today.

That's if all the states involved push their part of the interstate program as hard as possible, as Ohio has done, Preston added.

So one solution being considered by Tallamy is to give the money out on a month-to-month basis. Preston opposes this because it would hold back the Ohio Highway Department on letting contracts for the interstate work.

The interstate projects — with the 90 per cent paid by the federal government—make a big difference in a state's contract lettings. Last year, for example, Ohio awarded $98,865,458 worth of contracts in the first nine bid-openings of the year.

Of that, 22 interstate projects amounted for $76,559,561. In nine bid-openings this year, the state has awarded $52,473,420 worth of contracts, with only one interstate project (Ohio 1 in Franklin County), worth about 5½ million dollars.

The 10th bid-opening of 1959 will be Tuesday morning, and Preston has decided to leave federal projects in because of the House-Senate agreement on the gas tax hike. Included is one interstate project, the 12 supporting piers for the Toledo Expressway's south end bridge across the Maumee River.

At latest estimate, the Highway Department figured total cost of all jobs on the Sept. 15 bid-opening schedule at about 9.2 million dollars.

With Ohio already committed to spend 40 million dollars with no promise of repayment from the federal government, Preston took all federal aid projects off the Sept. 1 bid-opening. As a result, it was the smallest of the year, with $1,363,217 worth of contracts awarded.

Also on next Tuesday's bid-opening schedule will be a 1.3-mile section of Canton's urban expressway system, including five bridges and overpasses, and an eight-tenths mile section of Ohio 7 near Steubenville, where four-lane highway will be put in.

There are 15 projects and 48 miles of work in all.

Congress Shuns Veto by Ike

Second Public Works Bill Gets Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress today overrode President Eisenhower's veto of the second public works money bill—the first time this has been done in six years, eight months in the White House.

Senate action put the bill over in the face of the President's objections, since the House had voted 280-121 to override. That was 12 votes more than the two-thirds margin required.

In the Senate the count was 72-23, or 8 more than the required two-thirds.

The $1,185,309,093 measure, a perennial congressional favorite, contains construction or planning funds for flood control, navigation and reclamation projects for every one of the 50 states.

The President vetoed the bill because it contained money for more than 60 projects which are not included in his budget program. He vetoed an earlier bill for the same reason but the House last week sustained that veto by a one-vote margin.

On today's roll call, 20 Republicans and 260 Democrats voted to override. Five Democrats and 116 Republicans voted to sustain the veto.

The House voted soon after Eisenhower's veto message was read.

In the message, Eisenhower suggested that Congress enact a stop-gap measure to continue public works projects now under way.

Late last month, Eisenhower vetoed the original money bill on the ground it contained 67 projects he had not included in his budget. He said then, and repeated today, that those projects "will ultimately cost our taxpayers more than 800 million dollars."

Ah, that Cool Wave Finally Reaches Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cool Canadian air moved into the central section of the country today, and temperatures plummeted.

Early readings in the northern Plains and upper Mississippi Valley were 30 to 40 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier.

Hours after the cool air swept down, it had moved into the lower Great Lakes.

Actual Life in Berlin

There have been millions of words, in print and in speech, about the "Berlin problem," the crux of which is that Khrushchev is extremely dissatisfied with the present division of that city. But no argument is so potent as actual happenings in Berlin.

East Berlin, under communist rule, is a dismal, desolate place of a very low level of economic and human activity, showing all the effects of deep depression. West Berlin is booming, filled with happy, prosperous and contented people, with industry and commerce rivaling those of the prosperous Western countries, and streets filled with smiling, active, purposeful people.

Under capitalism the people are free and prosperous, under communism they are enslaved and poverty-stricken, eager to get away from the red regime. Nothing can alter that contrast, for the natural advantages or disadvantages apply equally to the two halves of the city.

This continuing contrast, showing that communism doesn't work as well as capitalism, is maddening to Khrushchev. No wonder he is dissatisfied and wants to abolish the telltale comparison.

Home-Painting Job: a Disaster!

NEW YORK (AP)—How do you go about getting President Eisenhower to declare your home a disaster area?

There is no point in our appealing to the Red Cross in this emergency. Too big a job. This is a federal case.

Our apartment looks as if it had been devastated by Hurricane Hortense. Actually, it's worse. We're having the place redone.

Well, here's the situation to date:

We called the Salvation Army to take away our old furniture, and they refused on two grounds: It either wasn't worth carting away, or if it was, it belonged in the Smithsonian Institution.

So we called a rubbish disposal man. He took one look at the debris and asked, "What are you storing here — surplus government wheat?"

Then he left town on a long vacation.

Repainting a New York apartment is as ritualized as a Hopi rain dance ceremonial.

The painters refuse to enter until you first pile everything in a big heap in the center of the room. This is to save arguments. The painters then are entitled to any paint that falls on the floor — and you get to keep any paint that falls on your stacked up furniture.

My wife, Frances, is usually pretty good at dealing with workmen. This time she met her match.

"That painter won't listen to a thing I say," she complained. "He says he's 65 years old, and ready to quit anyway."

After he doused his brushes and left, Frances wasn't sure she liked her new color scheme. The bedroom of our 6-year-old daughter, Tracy, is pink, but it's a kind of throw-up pink. The bathrooms were supposed to be Mediterranean blue. They turned out poison bottle blue.

Worst of all is one living room wall intended to be solid gold. The gold looks counterfeit. Soon as I got all my books back on the shelves, the paint inspector arrived and said our solid gold wall would have to be done over. Down came the books.

"I have to get rid of the old furniture before the new furniture comes," said Frances, who is alternately hysterical and trance-like with despair. "I don't know which way to turn."

My wife is brooding about turning the key in the lock frever, buying a house in the suburbs — and starting life all over as a pioneer mother out where everyone's a peach and the suburbs don't reach.

If this isn't a federal disaster case, I never saw one.

Help, Eisenhower, help! And don't forget to send a plumber. One of our faucets just sprung a leak.

Education Is Not Intelligence

By George Sokolsky

It is possible to compress paragraphs into aphoristic sentences, short, tight, glib and inexact. Charles Broad of Phoenix, Arizona writes me that I had taken several hundred words to expound what he could say in one short sentence. His sentence follows:

"Education never can take the place of intelligence, but intelligence can oftentimes prove to be superior to education."

What Broad says is quite true, but it is not the whole truth. An astrophysicist can be aided by intelligence but without the accumulation of disciplined knowledge, his intelligence can only help him to guess. A geologist may have a brilliant mind that will help him to amass a fortune, but without expert knowledge of the structure and composition of the Earth he will make guesses, some of which may work out. The amount of education — knowledge of physics, chemistry, dynamics, and other scientific disciplines — that goes into the making of a rocket cannot be picked up by using one's intelligence, although that is how Benjamin Franklin, the most authentic genius produced on this continent, did so.

There are very few Franklins in the world and it is doubtful whether the brilliance of intellect of Franklin or the wonderful mind of Leonardo da Vinci could build the "Nautilus." That required special, disciplined work at a university in the field of physics and mathematics, with additional knowledge of the function of the atom and how it responds under certain extraordinary conditions.

One of the reasons that the intellectual is not respected in the United States as he is in Europe or Asia is because in this country so much has, in the past, been achieved by businessmen who applied common sense to comparatively simple problems.

Henry Ford, for instance, picked up the concept of the continuous movement of a product from one worker to another on a transmission belt from a slaughter house in Chicago. He used his intelligence, applied it to the manufacture of automobiles, developed a method of production known as mass production and in Soviet nomenclature known as "rationalization of industry."

This is the application of intelligence by an unschooled man to an important problem, but Henry Ford, had he attempted to develop penicillin or the application of radium to a cancerous growth, would have had to know much more than he did.

Of course, the answer can be that no producer of penicillin ever made as much money as Ford did, but that is begging the question. To make a modern drug, it is necessary to know a great many scientific facts, including the whole range of molecular chemistry.

The other day, a young lady came to see me with her father. He could not understand what his young lady was doing at college except that it cost him more than he figured. His young lady was majoring in Chemistry and was at the stage at which mathematics consumes most attention. By mathematics her father understands arithmetic. That he can do very well. He can add, subtract and put the difference in his bank account.

But his daughter's mathematics he cannot understand at all. "They don't even deal in numbers," he said to me. "They have X's and Y's and Greek letters and what can you do with it? How do you apply it?"

So I tried to explain to him the important role of this peculiar kind of mathematics in modern science and how valuable his daughter might be if she is any good. So we got to talking about "common sense," which proves beyond doubt that two plus two is four and you make a profit. But suppose a farmer applies common sense and his cows eat a certain kind of grass and their udders bleed until they die. What good is common sense? So it gave me a chance to tell the wonderful story of heparin, dicumol and coumadin which have saved the lives of so many people by thinning the blood.

And it all came about because some cows ate certain grass which thinned their blood until they bled to death. Intelligence is valuable to identify this phenomenon when it is seen, but the man to identify anything had to possess an enormous knowledge of chemistry and bio-chemistry.

Knowledge of this kind is most advantageously obtained in universities in an orderly disciplined fashion under the tutelage of highly-trained men and women. Intelligence is good but not good enough.

Foods To Leave Alone

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Special dietetic foods are available for those of you on sodium-restricted diets. You may use them if you wish, but they aren't essential.

Your doctor can work out a diet for you. The American Heart Association, incidentally, has prepared several fine diets for persons on low-sodium diets of varying degrees.

If you don't have such a diet, let me at least give you a list of foods which you should avoid because of their sodium content.

Don't use any of the following, unless your doctor advises you otherwise:

Table salt, either at the table or added to canned vegetables. Sauerkraut or other vegetables prepared in brine.

Breads and rolls with salt toppings.

Potato chips, pretzels, salted popcorn, salted nuts, pickles or olives.

Salty or smoked fish such as bacon (or bacon fat), bologna, corned beef or chipped beef, frankfurters, ham, kosher meats, salt pork, sausage or smoked tongue.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the things Premier Nikita Khrushchev wants most — more trade with this country — is just exactly what he probably won't get.

The reason this government hasn't been eager for more trade with the Soviets can be stated bluntly although the State Department puts it in nicer language:

1. There isn't much to be gained by this country in such trade.

2. The machinery and know-how which the Soviets want from the United States would help them build up industrially, economically and militarily.

The Soviet Union isn't thinking in terms of buying consumer goods but in terms of buying machines and hiring American specialists.

Khrushchev wrote President Eisenhower a year ago about more trade. He got a fast brush. Then his deputy premier, Anastas Mikoyan, made the same pitch when he was here last January. The State Department cold-shouldered him.

Just a couple of weeks ago Khrushchev, preparing for his trip here next week, wrote a piece for the magazine, Foreign Affairs, in which he cited more trade as one of his prime goals.

So far as can be learned, he'll still get a cool turn-down. The story might be different if Soviet-American relations improved to the point that the two countries didn't have to worry about each other.

Individual American businessmen could make money selling things to the Soviets. But here they run into government policy which for years has not encouraged trade with the Soviet bloc countries. For example:

Trade with the Iron Curtain nations took a nose-dive in the past 12 years. In 1947 the United States exchanged $893,461,000 in exports and $224,947,000 in imports with Communist countries.

In 1958 U.S. exports to the Soviet bloc totaled only 113 million and imports from the Communist countries were 64 million. Most of the trade last year was with Poland.

About a decade ago, when the cold war was under way in earnest, it's government slapped controls on the export of strategic goods to Communist nations, materials or supplies which could help build up war-making power.

On his visit here Mikoyan, unlike Khrushchev who has been talking of buying machines to make consumer goods, asked that the strategic controls be lifted.

He got a fast answer from Douglas Dillon, under secretary of state.

Dillon minimized the idea that the ban on shipping strategic goods was much of a factor in keeping down Soviet-American trade. He said such goods amount to only about 10 per cent of the total possible list of things this country could sell abroad.

And Dillon, without using these exact words, told the Soviets they were a poor money risk. Khrushchev has suggested that in a few years real Soviet-American trade could amount to billions of dollars.

But the Soviet Union wants long-term credits from the United States. Dillon and the State Department have already answered the Khrushchev-Mikoyan suggestion of buying from America on long-term credit this way:

Why don't you pay what you owe? You owe this country $2,600,000,000 for civilian goods lent-leased to the Soviet Union during World War II. Dillon put it this way:

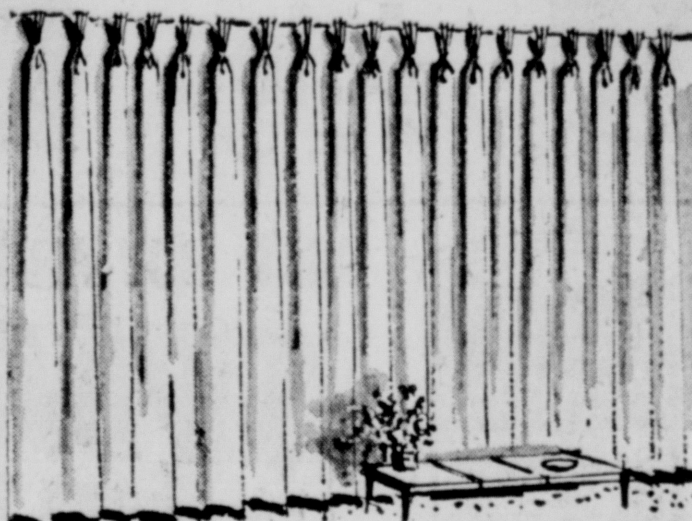

"How can we be expected to extend credits to the Soviet Union while that country is in default to us on its past debts?"

And Congress passed a law in 1951 forbidding even private long-term credits to countries, like the Soviet Union, which haven't paid the United States money they owe.

The State Department has given various explanations for its lack of enthusiasm for big trade with the Soviets:

She's a potential enemy; there's small profit in it for this country; if we started buying from the Soviets things we now buy from other nations we would hurt our present trading partners; and American machines and know-how would help the Soviets just that much more in trying to get ahead of us.

Actual Life in Berlin

There have been millions of words, in print and in speech, about the "Berlin problem," the crux of which is that Khrushchev is extremely dissatisfied with the present division of that city. But no argument is so potent as actual happenings in Berlin.

East Berlin, under communist rule, is a dismal, desolate place of a very low level of economic and human activity, showing all the effects of deep depression. West Berlin is booming, filled with happy, prosperous and contented people, with industry and commerce rivaling those of the prosperous Western countries, and streets filled with smiling, active, purposeful people.

Under capitalism the people are free and prosperous, under communism they are enslaved and poverty-stricken, eager to get away from the red regime. Nothing can alter that contrast, for the natural advantages or disadvantages apply equally to the two halves of the city.

This continuing contrast, showing that communism doesn't work as well as capitalism, is maddening to Khrushchev. No wonder he is dissatisfied and wants to abolish the telltale comparison.

Home-Painting Job: a Disaster!

NEW YORK (AP)—How do you go about getting President Eisenhower to declare your home a disaster area?

There is no point in our appealing to the Red Cross in this emergency. Too big a job. This is a federal case.

Our apartment looks as if it had been devastated by Hurricane Hortense. Actually, it's worse. We're having the place redone.

Well, here's the situation to date:

We called the Salvation Army to take away our old furniture, and they refused on two grounds: It either wasn't worth carting away, or if it was, it belonged in the Smithsonian Institution.

So we called a rubbish disposal man. He took one look at the debris and asked, "What are you storing here — surplus government wheat?"

Then he left town on a long vacation.

Repainting a New York apartment is as ritualized as a Hopi rain dance ceremonial.

The painters refuse to enter until you first pile everything in a big heap in the center of the room. This is to save arguments. The painters then are entitled to any paint that falls on the floor — and you get to keep any paint that falls on your stacked up furniture.

My wife, Frances, is usually pretty good at dealing with workmen. This time she met her match.

"That painter won't listen to a thing I say," she complained. "He says he's 65 years old, and ready to quit anyway."

After he doused his brushes and left, Frances wasn't sure she liked her new color scheme. The bedroom of our 6-year-old daughter, Tracy, is pink, but it's a kind of throw-up pink. The bathrooms were supposed to be Mediterranean blue. They turned out poison bottle blue.

Worst of all is one living room wall intended to be solid gold. The gold looks counterfeit. Soon as I got all my books back on the shelves, the paint inspector arrived and said our solid gold wall would have to be done over. Down came the books.

"I have to get rid of the old furniture before the new furniture comes," said Frances, who is alternately hysterical and trance-like with despair. "I don't know which way to turn."

My wife is brooding about turning the key in the lock frever, buying a house in the suburbs — and starting life all over as a pioneer mother out where everyone's a peach and the subways don't reach.

If this isn't a federal disaster case, I never saw one.

Help, Eisenhower, help! And don't forget to send a plumber.

One of our faucets just sprung a leak.

Foods To Leave Alone

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Special dietetic foods are available for those of you on sodium-restricted diets. You may use them if you wish, but they aren't essential.

Your doctor can work out a diet for you. The American Heart Association, incidentally, has prepared several fine diets for persons on low-sodium diets of varying degrees.

If you don't have such a diet, let me at least give you a list of foods which you should avoid because of their sodium content.

Don't use any of the following, unless your doctor advises you otherwise:

Table salt, either at the table or added to canned vegetables. Sauerkraut or other vegetables prepared in brine.

Breads and rolls with salt toppings.

Potato chips, pretzels, salted popcorn, salted nuts, pickles or olives.

Salty or smoked fish such as bacon (or bacon fat), bologna, corned beef or chipped beef, frankfurters, ham, kosher meats, salt pork, sausage or smoked tongue.

Salty r smoked fish such as anchovies, caviar, salted and dried cod, herring or sardines.

Bouillon cubes, catsup, relishes, prepared mustard, chili sauce, Worcestershire sauce, soy sauce, horseradish prepared with salt, meat tenderizers, meat sauces or meat extracts.

Celery salt, onion salt or garlic salt, except when used in cooking instead of regular salt.

Education Is Not Intelligence

By George Sokolsky

It is possible to compress paragraphs into aphoristic sentences, short, tight, glib and inexact. Charles Broad of Phoenix, Arizona writes me that I had taken several hundred words to expound what he could say in one short sentence. His sentence follows:

"Education never can take the place of intelligence, but intelligence can oftentimes prove to be superior to education."

What Broad says is quite true, but it is not the whole truth. An astrophysicist can be aided by intelligence but without the accumulation of disciplined knowledge, his intelligence can only help him to guess. A geologist may have a brilliant mind that will help him to amass a fortune, but without expert knowledge of the structure and composition of the Earth he will make guesses, some of which may work out. The amount of education — knowledge of physics, chemistry, dynamics, and other scientific disciplines — that goes into the making of a rocket cannot be picked up by using one's intelligence, although that is how Benjamin Franklin, the most authentic genius produced on this continent, did do.

There are very few Franklins in the world and it is doubtful whether the brilliance of intellect of Franklin or the wonderful mind of Leonardo da Vinci could build the "Nautilus." That required special, disciplined work at a university in the field of physics and mathematics, with additional knowledge of the function of the atom and how it responds under certain extraordinary conditions.

One of the reasons that the intellectual is not respected in the United States as he is in Europe or Asia is because in this country so much has, in the past, been achieved by businessmen who applied common sense to comparatively simple problems.

Henry Ford, for instance, picked up the concept of the continuous movement of a product from one worker to another on a transmission belt from a slaughter house in Chicago. He used his intelligence, applied it to the manufacture of automobiles, developed a method of production known as mass production and in Soviet nomenclature known as "rationalization of industry."

This is the application of intelligence by an unschooled man to an important problem, but Henry Ford, had he attempted to develop penicillin or the application of radium to a cancerous growth, would have had to know much more than he did.

Of course, the answer can be that no producer of penicillin ever made as much money as Ford did, but that is begging the question. To make a modern drug, it is necessary to know a great many scientific facts, including the whole range of molecular chemistry.

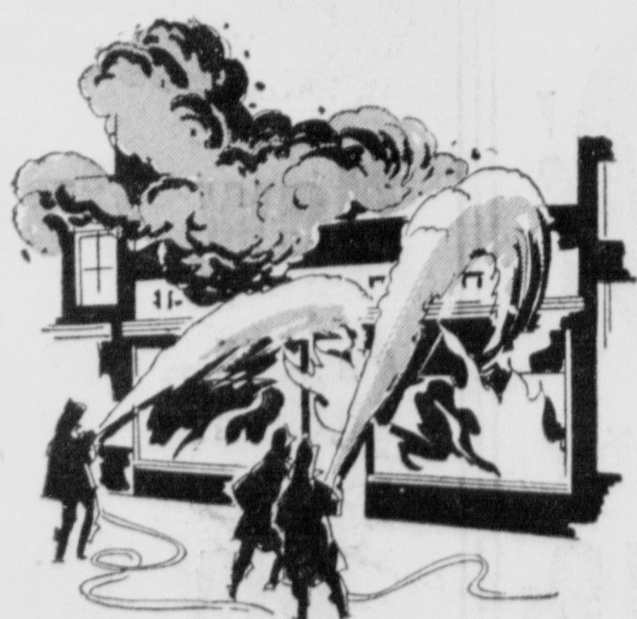

The other day, a young lady came to see me with her father. He could not understand what his young lady was doing at college except that it cost him more than he figured. His young lady was majoring in Chemistry and was at the stage at which mathematics consumes most attention. By mathematics her father understands arithmetic. That he can do very well. He can add, subtract and put the difference in his bank account.

But his daughter's mathematics he cannot understand at all. "They don't even deal in numbers," he said to me. "They have X's and Y's and Greek letters and what can you do with it? How do you apply it?"

So I tried to explain to him the important role of this peculiar kind of mathematics in modern science and how valuable his daughter might be if she is any good. So we got to talking about "common sense," which proves beyond doubt that two plus two is four and you make a profit. But suppose a farmer applies common sense and his cows eat a certain kind of grass and their udders bleed until they die. What good is common sense? So it gave me a chance to tell the wonderful story of heparin, diuretic and coumadin which have saved the lives of so many people by thinning the blood.

And it all came about because some cows ate certain grass which thinned their blood until they bled to death. Intelligence is valuable to identify this phenomenon when it is seen, but the man to identify anything had to possess an enormous knowledge of chemistry and bio-chemistry.

Knowledge of this kind is most advantageously obtained in universities in an orderly discipline of highly-trained men and women. Intelligence is good but not good enough.

L. M. BUTCH CO., Jewelers

Advice to the man who wants no regrets —

How to choose a watch

that will give years of faithful service

Few people know how a watch operates, or "what makes it tick." It's best to leave this knowledge to experts — just as you depend on your doctor or lawyer for professional advice. Our years of experience and training enable us to understand what makes a superb precision instrument created through scientific research by skilled craftsmen. L. M. Butch Co., Jewelers knows that the lure of low prices may be hard to resist, but we also know that cheap watches may prove costly in the long run. Frequently, "cheap" watches cannot readily be repaired because replacement parts are not available and must be returned to the factory of the maker for service — a time-consuming operation. Furthermore, you may suffer risk of painful embarrassment of having presented someone with an inferior gift.

Don't be misled! Buy with confidence - protect yourself - by choosing a watch guaranteed by both reliable manufacturer and L. M. Butch Co., Jewelers

It's what you don't see... in watches that makes the difference in price

Underneath the dial of a fine jeweled-lever watch are more than 120 high-precision parts. It takes more time and skill to make a quality watch than it does for an ordinary mass-produced cheap watch. Three features that make up "the heart" of the quality watch explain why. These are:

JEWEL-LEVER. This ingenious mechanism with its two specially designed jewels on the ends, alternately stops and starts the escape wheel, one "tooth" at a time. Ticking back and forth exactly 5 times a second, its jewels reduce friction and thus prolong the life of a quality watch.

BALANCE WHEEL. This is the control of "the heart" of the watch. Running at express-train speed, it revolves 180,000 times a year. Only sturdy quality-watch construction can stand the strain.

HAIRSPRING. This part of "the heart" of the watch pulsates over 1,800,000 times per year. It must be incredibly elastic yet extremely hard. In quality watches, the hairspring has a thickness of 8/10,000 of an inch.

L. M. BUTCH CO., Jewelers

Advice to the man who wants no regrets —

How to choose a watch

that will give years of faithful service

Few people know how a watch operates, or "what makes it tick." It's best to leave this knowledge to experts — just as you depend on your doctor or lawyer for professional advice. Our years of experience and training enable us to understand what makes a superb precision instrument created through scientific research by skilled craftsmen.

L. M. Butch Co., Jewelers knows that the lure of low prices may be hard to resist, but we also know that cheap watches may prove costly in the long run. Frequently, "cheap" watches cannot readily be repaired because replacement parts are not available and must be returned to the factory of the maker for service — a time-consuming operation. Furthermore, you may suffer risk of painful embarrassment of having presented someone with an inferior gift.

Don't be misled! Buy with confidence - protect yourself - by choosing a watch guaranteed by both reliable manufacturer and L. M. Butch Co., Jewelers

It's what you don't see. in watches that makes the difference in price

Underneath the dial of a fine jeweled-lever watch are more than 120 high-precision parts. It takes more time and skill to make a quality watch than it does for an ordinary mass-produced cheap watch. Three features that make up "the heart" of the quality watch explain why. These are:

JEWEL-LEVER. This ingenious mechanism with its two specially designed jewels on the ends, alternately stops and starts the escape wheel, one "tooth" at a time. Ticking back and forth exactly 5 times a second, its jewels reduce friction and thus prolong the life of a quality watch.

BALANCE WHEEL. This is the control of "the heart" of the watch. Running at express-train speed, it revolves 180,000 times a year. Only sturdy quality-watch construction can stand the strain.

HAIRSPRING. This part of "the heart" of the watch pulsates over 1,500,000 times per week. It must be incredibly elastic yet extremely hard. In quality watches, the hairspring has a thickness of 6/10,000 of an inch.

Jittery Far East Delaying Marriage

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Unsettled world conditions are to blame for delaying wedding plans between her and a Nepalese prince, says Lynn Waldron of Pepper Pike, Ohio.

The 22-year-old artist-writer said Tuesday that the marriage would take place when and if the troubled situation in the Far East "stabilizes."

Miss Waldron met Prince Bashundhara Bir Bikam Shah in January, 1958, while she was traveling through Nepal. The engagement was announced last January while the prince was visiting in Ohio.

DEAR ABBY: Our children are 9 and 6. Their godparents have forsaken them completely. We received only one gift from each couple and that was at the baptismal ceremony. Neither set of godparents has ever remembered the children at Christmas or on their birthdays. Is it possible for us to appoint other godparents at this time? We are so embarrassed when someone asks us what their godparents gave them on special occasions. Can this be done quietly or must some announcement be made in Church?

DEAR INQUIRING: The godparents of your children are recorded in the Church records, and whether you are permitted to make a change is something you should discuss with your clergyman.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Would-Be Red Wants Back In U.S. Now

MOSCOW (AP)—A New York metal worker who applied for Soviet citizenship 10 days ago says he already is homesick for the United States and wants to go home.

Nicholas Petrulli, 38, of Valley Stream, N.Y., appealed to the U.S. Embassy Tuesday night to give him back the American citizenship he renounced.

"I don't have any family here, haven't made any new friends, I don't have a job or money and would have to learn a new language," he told newsmen.

Petrulli said he has cabled his brother in Valley Stream for money to pay his Moscow hotel bills.

He already has his plane ticket home. He held on to the round-trip ticket he had on his 1965 tour that brought him to Moscow Aug. 11.

Petrulli handed his passport to the U.S. Embassy last Thursday with a signed statement renouncing his American citizenship.

He had already written the Soviet Parliament asking for Soviet citizenship but got no reply. He said then he felt "economically and morally at home in the Soviet Union."

In Los Angeles, Petrulli's divorced wife, Helen, said she was "glad he changed his mind." She offered to take him back. They have a 4-year-old daughter.

Hunters Find Target Is Man, Not a Rabbit

DALLAS (AP)—The implication bothered him more than the pain, Marvin Pannell said, when he was shot Tuesday while hunting near a suburban lake.

Pannell, 47, said two men fired at him as he crawled through underbrush hunting rats.

As they rushed him to a clinic, Pannell said, they told him "they thought I was a rabbit."

What's On the Menu?

DEAR ABBY: If the "man of the house" is out and a friend of his (the wife knows him also) drops by his home;

- (1) Should the wife invite the man in for spaghetti?
- (2) Should the man, knowing

Jittery Far East Delaying Marriage

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Unsettled world conditions are to blame for delaying wedding plans between her and a Nepalese prince, says Lynn Waldron of Pepper Pike, Ohio.

The 22-year-old artist-writer said Tuesday that the marriage would take place when and if the troubled situation in the Far East "stabilizes."

Miss Waldron met Prince Bishnu Bhandari Bir Bikram Shah in January, 1958, while she was traveling through Nepal. The engagement was announced last January while the prince was visiting in Ohio.

QUITS INDIA ARMY—Gen. K. S. Thimayya (above) resigned as commander of the Indian army in protest over Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon's "infiltrating politics into the army" by promoting officers without consulting him. Meanwhile, Red China's troops were massing along the Indian border.

the woman is alone in the house, accept the invitation or should he decline politely?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOS: It depends on what else was cooking besides spaghetti.

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about a neighbor whose good intentions I do not question, but who gives all the neighborhood children pills for something she has "diagnosed"?

She gave my ten-year-old a capsule for her liver because her "color" didn't look right. She gives a pair of twins on our block calcium tablets because they don't care for milk. She also made her paperboy drink some kind of malt concoction because he appeared underweight. (Now his mother delivers the paper to her house.)

When I spoke to her about the possible danger of her generosity, she told me I acted highly nervous and offered me some tranquilizers. Can I do something about her?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Tell this frustrated female "pharmacist" that even a doctor would not prescribe pills until he has examined the patient. Then warn the little victims who might be too timid to refuse.

DEAR ABBY: Our children are 9 and 6. Their godparents have forsaken them completely. We received only one gift from each couple and that was at the baptismal ceremony. Neither set of godparents has ever remembered the children at Christmas or on their birthdays. Is it possible for us to appoint other godparents at this time? We are so embarrassed when someone asks us what their godparents gave them on special occasions. Can this be done quietly or must some announcement be made in church?

INQUIRING

DEAR ABBY: The godparents of your children are recorded in the Church records, and whether you are permitted to make a change is something you should discuss with your clergyman.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Would-Be Red Wants Back In U.S. Now

MOSCOW (AP)—A New York metal worker who applied for Soviet citizenship 10 days ago says he already is homesick for the United States and wants to go home.

Nicholas Petrulli, 38, of Valley Stream, N.Y., appealed to the U.S. Embassy Tuesday night to give him back the American citizenship he renounced.

"I don't have any family here, haven't made any new friends, I don't have a job or money and would have to learn a new language," he told newsmen.

Petrulli said he was cabled his brother in Valley Stream for money to pay his Moscow hotel bills.

He already has his plane ticket home. He held on to the round-trip ticket he had on his $965 tour that brought him to Moscow Aug. 11.

Petrulli handed his passport to the U.S. Embassy last Thursday with a signed statement renouncing his American citizenship.

He had already written the Soviet Parliament asking for Soviet citizenship but got no reply. He said then he felt "economically and morally at home in the Soviet Union."

In Los Angeles, Petrulli's divorced wife, Helen, said she was "glad he changed his mind." She offered to take him back. They have a 4-year-old daughter.

Hunters Find Target Is Man, Not a Rabbit

DALLAS (AP)—The implication bothered him more than the pain, Marvin Pannell said, when he was shot Tuesday while hunting near a suburban lake.

Pannell, 47, said two men fired at him as he crawled through underbrush hunting rats.

Industry Plans
More Cash for Its Research

Stepped-Up Spending
Is Aimed at New
Products, Processes

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The research arm of industry is in for a bigger shot of financial vitamins.

Many corporations stepped up their spending on research and development during the recession convinced that new products or new processes were the way to lick it.

This year they're putting even more in the kitty because they see a new era of bigger sales on the way — and research is still one of their best bets to outplay the other fellow.

The billions that industry pours into this endeavor are described by several sources, both Washington officialdom and private research groups.

The American Management Assn. reports that 582 firms tell it this year's budgeting for research and development is, for the group as a whole, 12 per cent above the money spent in 1958. In that recession year they spent 4 per cent more than in 1957.

The Department of Commerce sets forth in its statistical abstract of the United States that industry's spending on such endeavors expanded from 430 million dollars in 1945 to 4 1/2 billion dollars in 1957. And today's outlay from both government and private sources is estimated to be running at 10 billion dollars a year.

The U.S. Bureau of the Census further notes that the fastest growing group in its classification of the working population is the professional and technical one.

Why do hard-headed treasurers of corporations approve money for the often nebulous activities of company scientists?

Dr. Philip Marvin, research and development chief for the American Management Assn. has a blunt answer.

"New products tend to produce added profits and often have a greatly magnified multiplying effect on earnings," he says.

"Corporations that are ahead usually stay ahead and it is becoming increasingly difficult for late starters to catch up."

"Those corporations that can capture leadership positions in the

State Treasurer, Auditor
Lock Horns in Political Fuss

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state auditor and the state treasurer locked horns Wednesday as Democratic Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson proposed to fire two Republicans from the staff of the Korean Conflict Compensation Fund.

Fund Director Chester W. Goble later threatened to quit.

Ferguson, a member of the fund commission, said Arthur J. Bellar, past president of the War Veterans Republican Club, "has been out campaigning for the Republican party."

Bellar makes $5,000 a year as procurement officer for the Korean fund.

The treasurer added that the $8,000-a-year job of W. J. Burns as office manager could be combined with that of W. F. Woodmansee, assistant bonus director.

Dismissal of both Burns and Bellar would "save $13,000," Ferguson said.

Auditor James A. Rhodes, fund commission chairman, a Republican and old political foe of Ferguson, then tangled with the treasurer.

Rhodes chided Ferguson on bringing politics into commission business and asserted he hoped the day never comes when politics enters payment of war veteran bonuses.

Rhodes offered to resign as commission chairman. He said he and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, another Republican, would be glad to let three Democrats, Ferguson, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy "take over administration of the bonus."

Goble, following the meeting, said he was about to resign and may do so at a later commission meeting.

Ferguson said he hadn't intend use of new technology within specific industries can command their destinies, both with respect to directions taken and profit levels achieved.

Looking back on 1958, a year that started poorly for many firms but brightened in the final months, the companies report that as a group their new product spending averaged 3.2 per cent of the sales dollar, compared with 2.8 per cent in 1957.

This year the industry increasing its spending the most is the automotive one, up 32 per cent — with the new compact cars doubtless taking a large slice of it.

Next in line are: Instruments, up 30 per cent, electrical machinery 24 per cent and metalworking 22 per cent.

ed his action to reflect upon Goble and Woodmansee. Rhodes answered: "If we have complete confidence in Mr. Goble and Mr. Woodmansee, let THEM discharge employees when they are not needed."

State's Retail
Trade Reaches
All-Time High

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University's Bureau of Business Research reported today that the state's retail sales reached the highest July level in history—15 per cent higher than in July last year and 6.6 per cent above the level of the previous high in July 1955.

Gains for July this year over the same month of 1958 were registered by all but two of the 19 kinds of retail business for which the bureau compiles monthly indexes. Leading sales gainers were automobile dealers, up 40 per cent; lumber-building materials dealers, up 26 per cent; family clothing stores, up 24 per cent, and furniture stores, up 21 per cent.

Declines of 2 and 3 per cent were reported by women's apparel stores and jewelry stores, respectively.

The percentage of increases for cities surveyed in July this year over July of 1958 and for the first seven months of 1959 over that period of 1958 were, respectively: Akron 11 and 9 per cent, Canton 16 and 7, Cincinnati 10 and 10, Cleveland 20 and 11, Columbus 14 and 12, Dayton 26 and 20, Hamilton-Middletown 34 and 22, Portsmouth 20 and 17, Toledo 13 and 13, and Youngstown 17 and 12.

Big Liner Blamed
For Ship Collision

NEW YORK (AP) — The Coast Guard has found the liner Constitution at fault in a collision with the tanker Jalanta March 1 just outside New York Harbor.

The Coast Guard found that the primary cause of the collision was "the failure of the U.S. Constitution to go at a moderate speed in a fog and failure to stop her engines and navigate with caution upon hearing forward of her beam the fog signal of a vessel, the position of which was not ascertained."

Industry Plans More Cash for Its Research

Stepped-Up Spending
Is Aimed at New
Products, Processes

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The research arm of industry is in for a bigger shot of financial vitamins.

Many corporations stepped up their spending on research and development during the recession convinced that new products or new processes were the way to lick it.

This year they're putting even more in the kitty because they see a new era of bigger sales on the way — and research is still one of their best bets to outplay
the other fellow.

The billions that industry pours into this endeavor are described by several sources, both Washington officialdom and private research groups.

The American Management
Assn. reports that 582 firms tell it this year's budgeting for research and development is, for the group as a whole, 12 per cent above the money spent in 1958. In that recession year they spent 4 per cent more than in 1957.

The Department of Commerce sets forth in its statistical abstract of the United States that industry's spending on such endeavors expanded from 430 million dollars in 1945 to 4 1/2 billion dollars in 1957. And today's outlay from both government and private sources is estimated to be running at 10 billion dollars a year.

The U.S. Bureau of the Census further notes that the fastest growing group in its classification of the working population is the professional and technical one.

Why do hard-headed treasurers of corporations approve money for the often nebulous activities of company scientists?

Dr. Philip Marvin, research and development chief for the American Management Assn. has a blunt answer.

"New products tend to produce added profits and often have a greatly magnified multiplying effect on earnings," he says.

"Corporations that are ahead usually stay ahead and it is becoming increasingly difficult for late starters to catch up.

"Those corporations that can capture leadership positions in the

State Treasurer, Auditor Lock Horns in Political Fuss

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state auditor and the state treasurer locked horns Wednesday as Democratic Treasurer Joseph T.
Ferguson proposed to fire two Republicans from the staff of the Korean Conflict Compensation Fund.

Fund Director Chester W. Goble later threatened to quit.

Ferguson, a member of the fund commission, said Arthur J. Bel-lar, past president of the War Veterans Republican Club, "has been out campaigning for the Republican party." Bellar makes $5,000 a year as procurement officer for the Korean fund.

The treasurer added that the $8,000-a-year job of W. J. Burns as office manager could be combined with that of W. F. Woodmansee, assistant bonus director.
Dismissal of both Burns and Bel-lar would "save $13,000," Ferguson said.

Auditor James A. Rhodes, fund commission chairman, a Republican and old political foe of Ferguson, then tangled with the treasurer.

Rhodes chided Ferguson on bringing politics into commission business and asserted he hoped the day never comes when politics enters payment of war veteran bonuses.

Rhodes offered to resign as commission chairman. He said he and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, another Republican, would be glad to let three Democrats, Ferguson,
Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Atty.
Gen. Mark McElroy "take over administration of the bonus."

Goble, following the meeting, said he was about to resign and may do so at a later commission meeting.

Ferguson said he hadn't intend-use of new technology within specific industries can command their destinies, both with respect to directions taken and profit levels achieved."

Looking back on 1958, a year that started poorly for many firms
but brightened in the final months, the companies report that as a group their new product spending averaged 3.2 per cent of the sales dollar, compared with 2.8 per cent in 1957.

This year the industry increasing its spending the most is the automotive one, up 32 per cent — with the new compact cars doubtless taking a large slice of it.

Next in line are: Instruments, up 30 per cent, electrical machinery 24 per cent and metalworking
22 per cent.

State's Retail Trade Reaches All-Time High

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio
State University's Bureau of Business Research reported today that the state's retail sales reached the highest July level in history—15 per cent higher than in July last year and 6.6 per cent above the level of the previous high in July 1955.

Gains for July this year over the same month of 1958 were registered by all but two of the 19 kinds of retail business for which the bureau compiles monthly indexes. Leading sales gainers were automobile dealers, up 40 per cent; lumber-building materials dealers, up 26 per cent; family clothing stores, up 24 per cent, and furniture stores, up 21 per cent.

Declines of 2 and 3 per cent were reported by women's apparel stores and jewelry stores, respectively.

The percentage of increases for cities surveyed in July this year over July of 1958 and for the first seven months of 1959 over that period of 1958 were, respectively:
Akron 11 and 9 per cent, Canton
16 and 7, Cincinnati 10 and 10,
Cleveland 20 and 11, Columbus 14
and 12, Dayton 26 and 20, Hamilton-Middletown 34 and 22, Portsmouth 20 and 17, Toledo 13 and 13, and Youngstown 17 and 12.

Big Liner Blamed For Ship Collision

NEW YORK (AP) — The Coast Guard has found the liner Collision at fault in a collision with the tanker Jalanta March 1 just outside New York Harbor.

The Coast Guard found that the primary cause of the collision was "the failure of the U.S. Constitution to go at a moderate speed in a fog and failure to stop her engines and navigate with caution upon hearing forward of her beam the fog signal of a vessel, the position of which was not ascertained."

What's Situation In Steel Strike After 8 Weeks?

By NORMAN WALKER
Associated Press Labor Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The steel strike starts its ninth week today. The strike has settled down to a quiet, though intensely grim test of economic strength between the industry and the striking United Steelworkers Union.

The only evidences of any trouble are the darkened, sleeping steel mills and an occasional propaganda blast from the union or industry.

A handful of desultory pickets keeps each mill closed. The industry makes no effort to reopen its shut plants. It's all peaceful—but no steel.

What brought it about, and what's the situation after eight weeks? Here are some questions and answers on the situation:

Q. How many steelworkers are striking and how many still working?

A. About 500,000 strikers. About 50,000 to 60,000 still working in plants with still unexpired contracts, plants organized by other unions, or non-union plants.

Q. What has happened to production?

A. It has dwindled from about 2 1/2 million tons per week just before the strike to a trickle of about 350,000 tons per week now. The strike started July 15.

Q. How many other workers have been idled as a result of the strike?

A. About 150,000, mainly in allied industries such as railroads, coal mines, etc. However related unemployment is rapidly growing.

Q. How much did strikers make before they went out?

A. Average hourly earnings about $3.11. Their base rate is about $2.50 per hour, but they make the rest through overtime, incentives for good production records, and various premiums for shift, Sunday and holiday work.

Q. What is the normal work week?

A. Near 40 hours. The average in June, at peak production before the strike started, was 41.6 hours. Out of a total of 91 million hours worked in June, about 5,700,000 hours represented overtime.

Q. What is a steelworker's average annual wage?

A. Varies considerably. It was $5,350 in 1957, a good steel year, and $4,840 in 1958, a poor year. In 1958 over 22 per cent of the steelworkers earned less than $3,600, eight per cent $7,200 or more.

Arkansas Solon Gets Congress OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—By a vote of 245-5, the House has declared that Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark) is entitled to his seat in Congress.

Alford, a strong segregationist, won a surprise write-in victory in Little Rock last November over Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark). Hays was considered a moderate on the question of school integration.

Alford's campaign featured the use of printed stickers bearing his name which were pasted onto ballots by write-in voters. There was some question of the legality of this.

Q. How much paid vacation does a steelworker get? How many paid holidays?

A. Vacations vary from 1 to 3 1/2 weeks, depending on length of service. There are seven paid holidays.

Q. Do steelworkers have hospital, medical and major medical insurance and who pays the premiums? Life insurance?

A. Yes, worker and employer pay half cost in each case. Life coverage varies from $3,500 to $6,000.

Q. Do workers have retirement plan and who pays for it?

A. Yes, management pays entire cost. Minimum monthly payment $72 at age 65 after 30 years service, plus social security.

Q. Do workers have other fringe benefits?

A. Yes, supplemental unemployment benefits (augmenting state payments to provide 65 per cent of normal take-home pay); Sunday work premium; shift differential, part-time pay when sick or injured; incentives.

Q. Do workers' contracts vary between plants?

A. Relatively little, except as to seniority provisions and local practices.

Q. What do workers pay in dues? What do they get in strike benefits?

A. Union dues $5 monthly for all members. Union pays no strike benefits. Union locals, which retain half the monthly dues, do meet striker emergency needs such as urgent mortgage payments, utility bills, etc. Two local unions at Baltimore, Md., currently paying out $150,000 weekly.

Q. Could lack of funds force the union to capitulate?

A. No, but workers lacking ordinary living resources for a long period might force the union to do so. The union has a 33 million dollar treasury. Some 600,000 members in steel fabricating and other lines are still working and paying dues. Staff members are off the union payroll for the strike duration, saving $700,000 a month.

Q. What factors could end the strike?

A. Workers may tire of going payless. As supplies run out, steel customers could pressure for a settlement. Also with ore workers also idled the industry is in a pinch to lay in enough ore supply before water delivery routes freeze over, if mills are to operate next winter.

Q. Why hasn't the two-month stoppage hurt the nation more?

A. Because the industry produced nine months supply of steel in the first six months of the year, anticipating the strike. Workers, though technically losing about 70 million dollars a week in wages, will about break even through pre-strike and post-strike overtime pay.

Generally speaking the nation will produce and consume only a given amount of steel every year, anyway. It takes a given amount of work to produce it. This can be accomplished steadily or in strike-induced spurts. The result is about the same except for economic disruption to local communities accompanying the latter method.

Deercreek Sets 1960 Debt at $161

Deercreek Twp. trustees expect to run $161 in debt in the operation of their township during 1960, according to a budget submitted to Pickaway County Auditor Mrs. Marvina H. Rhoades on July 20.

Trustee clerk Karl Morrison estimated 1960 receipts of $5,636 and expenditures of $5,797.

Deercreek's estimated 1959 budget balance was set at $3, a far cry from its 1958 balance of $612.29.

In addition to the $3 balance, Morrison estimated $4,000 to be received from general property taxes, an increase of $1,450 from 1958.

A TOTAL OF $300 was estimated to be lost in inheritance taxes, always a difficult item to estimate. The 1959 estimated budget called for $900 in inheritance taxes and the 1960 budget called for $600.

The following receipts were identical with the 1959 budget: sales tax, $800; cigarette taxes, $18; sale of cemetery lots, $200 and depositary interest, $15.

Estimated 1960 expenditures were $690 higher than those of 1959. Increases were felt in fire protection expenses, $500, and contingent expenses, $195.

Reductions came in cemetery expenses, $25, and auditor's and treasurer's fees, $80.

A breakdown of expenses is: trustee salaries, $950; trustees' expenses, $150; town hall salaries, $300;

TOWN HALL expenses, $500; cemetery salaries, $2,150; cemetery expenses, $200; fire protection expenses, $800; bank charges, $7; contingent expense, $195; workmen's compensation, $145, and County Board of Health, $400.

Township road and bridge fund receipts totaled $4,047.20 and expenses, $4,400 for a balance of $47.20.

Motor vehicle license tax fund receipts amounted to $2,869.17, while expenditures were estimated at $2,000, for a $869.17 balance.

Estimated gasoline tax fund receipts were set at $8,299.14 and expenses, $8,200, for a $99.14 balance.

Deercreek Twp. bond retirement fund receipts were estimated at $10,892.69 while expenses were set at $5,580, for a balance of $5,312.69.

Driver Guessed Right, But It Proved Costly

MEDINA, N.Y. (AP)—Joe Aroski thought his automobile brakes needed checking. He was right. He couldn't stop when he got to a service station. He hit a door, cracked a wall and ran into the owner's parked car. He was fined $10 for driving with inadequate brakes.

Seven nations comprise Central America - Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Panama.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The kids go back to school this week—and Momma goes back to buying chuck roast.

That's the way the picture shapes up in the supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores. School lunch standbys such as jams, jellies, peanut butter, cold cuts, bread and the like are promoted as special buys.

And housewives who may have put a crimp in the family budget entertaining last weekend can get even by buying chuck roast.

Less expensive pork items, such as loins and small picnic hams, also are being pushed. Leg of lamb is the feature at some stores in the East and Midwest.

However, butter prices are moving upward just at the time school sandwiches must be prepared. Advances of as much as 4 cents a pound are reported, reflecting seasonal cuts in production.

Eggs also are going up, by 2 to 9 cents a dozen, although the increases mostly are for medium and large sizes.

Snap beans are an outstanding buy among vegetables, along with cabbage, medium - size onions, nearby potatoes, sweet potatoes, eggplant, corn and peppers. Other good buys are radishes, green onions, tomatoes, topped carrots in the familiar cellophane bags, local celery, cucumbers, endive and escarole.

Outstanding fruit buys are most nearby apples, the small, dark blue type of plum, pears and purple Concord grapes.

Limes, oranges and lemons are good guys, too, but melons and peaches are fairly high.

Ohio Chiefs Being Sued in Welfare Fuss

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—A Portsmouth man is suing Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and top officials of the Department of Public Welfare for 10 million dollars.

William D. Kimble Jr., of Portsmouth, filed suit today in Scioto County Common Pleas Court on behalf of his mother, Mrs. Myrtle Kimble, 79, an old-age pensioner and a patient of Portsmouth General Hospital.

Kimble contends his mother is not receiving welfare assistance "in connection with her need for hospitalization."

He said his mother and other pensioners are being coerced "to forego necessary hospitalization and enter nursing homes."

"Nursing homes have not the facilities nor the supervision to make them a decent place in which to receive necessary care," Kimble said.

He said he is suing "for himself and for others in similar circumstances." Kimble named as defendants, DiSalle; the Welfare Department and its director, Mrs. Robert M. Gorman, and Thomas D. Weiler, director of the division of aid for the aged.

Kimble is on indefinite leave of absence as a state highway inspector.

Boxing Champ Booked For TV Singing Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—World heavyweight boxing champion Ingemar Johansson is going to sing with Dinah Shore on her NBC-TV show Oct. 4.

"When I was in Sweden this summer, everyone told me how well Ingo could sing," Miss Shore said Tuesday. "So I brought some Swedish songs back with me and he'll sing both alone and with me."

National Council President Has Garden Background

MRS. JAMIE JOHNSON

Garden Club of Ohio members attending the two-day annual meeting at the Deshler Hilton Hotel in Columbus next Tuesday and Wednesday will have a chance to see no less a personage than Mrs. Jamie Johnson, president of National Council of State Garden Clubs.

And a National Council president is to an ordinary garden clubber what Eisenhower is to the ordinary citizen.

Mrs. Jamie Johnson lives in Dearborn, Mich.

Her father, Charles W. Smith, an historian of note was Detroit's official representative of the Metropolitan Opera Company. He was accustomed to giving informal receptions in his home as a child Mrs. Johnson knew such artists as Tetrazzini and Caruso. While still very young Mrs. Johnson became acquainted with music and was aware of the importance of cultural influences in a community.

Mrs. Johnson's interest in horticulture was instilled in her by a family of real gardeners. Her mother and father received many prizes and ribbons for their beautifully grown specimens.

AN UNCLE, interested in gladiolus hybrids often took her to his experimental acreage where he hybridized for color. During summer vacations she spent the time with two aunts, each with a greenhouse.

As a campfire girl she became interested in conservation and organized club work.

She is a graduate of Eastern Michigan College. Later she received credits from the College of the City of Detroit for study in Europe.

She met Jamie Johnson at Detroit Teachers' College. He is a southerner, noted for his hospitality. He frequently brings friends home where steaks are broiled on the spacious recreation room fireplace.

The children's friends are always welcome. Garden club meetings have been held in the Johnson home and many new projects started.

The Johnson's son and daughter are both married now with children of their own. One often finds the grandchildren visiting there. Large Christmas and Thanksgiving dinners are taken for granted.

MRS. JOHNSON has done war work, been active in directing youth groups. She is a member of Women's Symphony Assn. and director in Woman's City Club of Detroit.

Actually Mrs. Johnson has done so much and served in so many different official capacities it makes one's head swim to enumerate them.

She has held almost every office in National Council and served on practically every committee.

This, then, is Mrs. Jamie Johnson, president of National Council of State Garden Clubs with its 400,000 members. This is the woman of whom it has been said "She brings to National Council, experience, new ideas, good will, boundless energy and a good sense of humor."

Ohio Driver Permits Reaching New Cycle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—This month marks the beginning of another three-year cycle for the licensing of Ohio drivers.

J. Grant Keys, director of the Department of Highway Safety, said about 70 per cent of Ohio's licensed drivers must renew their licenses between September 1959 and September 1960.

Fancier Says Dahlias Easy To Garden

Nobody at the Ohio State Fair had more fun than Truman Fisher, Jersey cattle man and dahlia fancier of Fredricktown. The Fisher kids showed the cattle and Truman decorated the Jersey barn with some of his excellently raised dahlias.

Moreover he had the pleasure of making the Jersey Queen's corsage. And naturally it was made of some of the Fisher dahlias, bright red ones.

Fisher has about 80 varieties of dahlias. A more enthusiastic dahlia man we have yet to see. He feels that dahlias are not as widely used in arrangements as they deserve.

He maintains that they "hold up" better than most flowers. No, he does not see their stems in hot water before hardening. He just sticks them in water and they harden quite satisfactorily. His wife added the information that dahlias also drink through their petals. So she often sprays or sprinkles the face of the flower that is going to be shown.

We pinned Fisher down to admitting that there are a few varieties of dahlias that will not harden satisfactorily. He said that Buckeye Glory, a beautiful lavender, will not harden, do what he will. But Buckeye Glory adds color to the garden so he keeps it.

FISHER WAS asked if dahlias needed much care. His reply was that dahlias needed equally as much care as roses. In fact, he sprays his dahlias with the same sprays used by rosarians, Parathion, Malathion and DDT.

Yes, there is a dahlia borer. In fact it's the corn borer that feasts on dahlias instead of corn. When asked if this could be remedied Mrs. Fisher said, "Yes, if sprayed with DDT when the borer is in the larvae stage."

Look out for aphids, too. They carry a virus which infects dahlias.

From the conversation with Fisher we gathered that dahlias are mighty pretty, a fascinating specialty and a lot of hard work.

Garden Gossip

Flowers in front of the Ralph Curtin home on E. Union St. are blooming their heads off. Roses, petunias and ageratum all seem to harmonize in color.

And speaking of color harmony, Carlton Lees, Kingwood Center horticulturist for several years, said he thought orange and cerise made a pleasing combination. I wondered at the time if I heard right.

The Pepsi Cola people are using that color combination in their latest ad. It's a picture of a gal in magenta against a background of brilliant orange. I'll say this for it, it's a striking combination.

Garden flowers were used as decorations in the Shortridge home when Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shortridge celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary last Sunday. Their daughter, Miss Mary Shortridge, is one of the flower growing people we know. Most of the flowers were from her garden.

One Ohio nursery is advertising its pyracantha as "extra hardy" because it came through the winter of 1958 and 1959. Well, we agree. If it came through last winter it's got what it takes. The winter loss was terrific. There is no doubt about it.

MRS. IONE Reichelderfer, E. Union St., showed us a catalogue with a life-sized picture of allium giganteum. It was a ball-like flower made up of tiny lilac florets. Had we ever seen it, she wanted to know. Yes, once, at Mrs. Ed Fetherolf's. It's a striking and interesting plant belonging to the onion family. One nursery catalogue lists it as "Jewel of Tibet". It's supposed to be perfectly hardy and to multiply rapidly.

Mrs. John Butler, Gahanna, says Garden Club of Ohio members are being alerted to bring their best blossoms when they attend the convention at the Deshler Hotel in Columbus. The hotel lobby and the ballroom will be decorated with flowers. Table decorations will be very elaborate and will be changed every meal. Mrs.

Butler thinks it will take a great many flowers.

Mrs. Oscar Root is chairman of the annual Chrysanthemum Show to be held at the Park of Roses October 17 and 18. Mrs. Root formerly of Circleville now lives in Pataskala. This will be the tenth show to be sponsored by the Central Ohio Chrysanthemum Society.

The Whisler Presbyterian Church will be decorated with garden flowers when the 100 anniversary of its founding is celebrated September 13. Loring Hill is chairman of the flower committee. Assisting him will be Mrs. Fred Marshall.

Competition is growing tougher at the Ohio State Fair Flower Show. One top flight arranger from Columbus who has loads of "Best of Show" ribbons to her credit said it was getting too tough for her. "I'm quitting", she said. We'd like to bet.

On Laurelville, Route 1, there's a home with some very special flowers. Just a lot of them! When we inquired we were told it was the Drake residence. Well, somebody in that household is a wizard with flowers.

The L. E. Foremans, Park Place, have an enormous castor bean plant growing higher than the garage. The individual leaves are at least two feet in diameter.

Mrs. Foreman wanted to know why her castor bean plant had no beans on it while her neighbor, Sally Harden, had much smaller plants but with an abundance of beans.

WE TOLD HER she couldn't expect one castor bean to have everything.

We understand the Paul Johnsons have been disappointed in their zinnias this year but are delighted with their roses. Editorially speaking, we'd say it's nice to be pleased about roses than about zinnias.

Some Mildews Harmful to Many Plants

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The powdery mildews comprise a large group of diseases that can harm many different plants. Many ornamental plants such as phlox, delphinium, aster, zinnia, other perennial and annual flowers, vegetables such as bean, cucurbits, crucifers, egg plant, lettuce, pea, pepper, potato, tomato and grasses, both lawn and cereals are affected by these fungi.

Their appearance is common in the fall when cool, moist weather persists, however, the disease can appear whenever conditions are ideal for the organism to grow and in some cases are most severe under dry conditions.

The first symptoms of powdery mildew are usually tiny white, in some cases gray tan, superficial spots on leaves and stems of plants. These spots may enlarge and run together until a large area is covered with a visible powder-like or granular material. In some cases, black pin-point size bodies may appear scattered over the white powdery surface. These are fruiting bodies of the organism.

When conditions are ideal for the development of the disease, considerable premature defoliation may occur. When weatering, particularly with a garden hose, do not allow the water to run over the leaves. Water at the base of plant only.

Control: Control measures may vary depending on the circumstances. Resistant varieties may be used with some plants. Under greenhouse conditions, manipulation of temperature and humidity may keep the presence of mildew to a minimum. Spray with the following materials:

1. Sulfur Wettable four to 3 tablespoons per one gallon of water
2. Dinitrocaprylphenyl cortonate one-half to 1 tablespoon per one gallon of water. (Mildex, Karathane).
3. Dust with sulfur or 1 per cent Dinitrocaprylphenyl cortonate.

"Bonsai", Living Art Form Explained in New Handbook

Windblown, gnarled and twisted trees that grow in the rocky crevices of high mountains may live for a century or more, yet remain dwarfed throughout their existence.

Their life struggle against adversity brings out qualities rarely seen in large trees growing at lower elevations. When grown in appropriate pots, they become a form of living art — the long-famous "bonsai" (pronounced "bone-sigh") of Japan.

The practice of growing such trees goes back many hundreds of years, says Dr. George S. Avery in the "Handbook on Dwarfed Potted Trees," just published by the Brooklyn Botanic Garden.

Whereas the most picturesque bonsai plants, in private collections, may be at least a half century old most of the specimens we see in this country are "cultural dwarfs" that have been developed from young plants grown from seed of cuttings, ordinary nursery stock, or somewhat dwarfed trees found growing wild.

THESE are trained to remain dwarf, rather than being dwarf by heredity. Kan Yashiroda, of Japan, the editor of this Handbook, explains in great detail how each type of plant should be cared for and trained to make a beautiful bonsai tree.

In this enlarged and revised edition of the Bonsai Handbook, there are 16 articles, written for the most part by Japan's leading authorities, which have been carefully edited to adapt them to American conditions. The experience gained from maintaining the Brooklyn Botanic Garden's nationally famous bonsai collection has been drawn upon heavily in preparing this new edition.

Subjects covered include selection of suitable plants, how to grow miniature potted plants, the bonsai culture of various azaleas, flowering trees, wisteria, Japanese zelkova, bald cypress and many kinds of evergreens.

The key steps in bonsai culture—pruning the top and the roots, wiring the branches, repotting, and proper soil mixtures—are fully explained and illustrated. There are separate items on suitable tools and containers to use.

The "Handbook on Dwarfed Potted Trees" is one of a series of popular guides, published and distributed nationally as an educational service by the Garden. It contains 96 pages and 117 halftones and line cuts. This Handbook may be obtained for one dollar from the Brooklyn Botanic Garden, Brooklyn 25, New York.

Beau Jack, former lightweight boxing champion of the world, is now shining shoes in Miami Beach.

MRS. IONE Reichelderfer, E. Union St., showed us a catalogue with a life-sized picture of allium giganteum. It was a ball-like flower made up of tiny lilac florets. Had we ever seen it, she wanted to know. Yes, once, at Mrs. Ed Fetherolf's. It's a striking and interesting plant belonging to the onion family. One nursery catalogues it as "Jewel of Tibet". It's supposed to be perfectly hardy and to multiply rapidly.

Mrs. John Butler, Gahanna, says Garden Club of Ohio members are being alerted to bring their best blossoms when they attend the convention at the Deshler Hilton in Columbus. The hotel lobby and the ballroom will be decorated with flowers. Table decorations will be very elaborate and will be changed every meal. Mrs.

Butler thinks it will take a great many flowers.

Mrs. Oscar Root is chairman of the annual Chrysanthemum Show to be held at the Park of Roses October 17 and 18. Mrs. Root formerly of Circleville now lives in Pataskala. This will be the tenth show to be sponsored by the Central Ohio Chrysanthemum Society.

The Whisler Presbyterian Church will be decorated with garden flowers when the 100 anniversary of its founding is celebrated September 13. Loring Hill is chairman of the flower committee. Assisting him will be Mrs. Fred Marshall.

Competition is growing tougher at the Ohio State Fair Flower Show. One top flight arranger from Columbus who has loads of "Best of Show" ribbons to her credit said it was getting too tough for her. "I'm quitting", she said. We'd like to bet.

On Laurelville, Route 1, there's a home with some very special flowers. Just a lot of them! When we inquired we were told it was the Drake residence. Well, somebody in that household is a wizard with flowers.

The L. E. Foremans, Park Place, have an enormous castor bean plant growing higher than the garage. The individual leaves are at least two feet in diameter.

Mrs. Foreman wanted to know why her castor bean plant had no beans on it while her neighbor, Sally Harden, had much smaller plants but with an abundance of beans.

WE TOLD HER she couldn't expect one castor bean to have everything.

We understand the Paul Johnsons have been disappointed in their zinnias this year but are delighted with their roses. Editorially speaking, we'd say it's nicer to be pleased about roses than about zinnias.

Some Mildews Harmful to Many Plants

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The powdery mildews comprise a large group of diseases that can harm many different plants. Many ornamental plants such as phlox, delphinium, aster, zinnia, other perennial and annual flowers, vegetables such as bean, cucumber, crucifers, egg plant, lettuce, pea, pepper, potato, tomato and grasses, both lawn and cereals are affected by these fungi.

Their appearance is common in the fall when cool, moist weather persists, however, the disease can appear whenever conditions are ideal for the organism to grow and in some cases are most severe under dry conditions.

The first symptoms of powdery mildew are usually tiny white, in some cases gray tan, superficial spots on leaves and stems of plants. These spots may enlarge and run together until a large area is covered with a visible powder-like or granular material. In some cases, black pin-point size bodies may appear scattered over the white powdery surface. These are fruiting bodies of the organism.

When conditions are ideal for the development of the disease, considerable premature defoliation may occur. When watering, particularly with a garden hose, do not allow the water to run over the leaves. Water at the base of plant only.

Control: Control measures may vary depending on the circumstances. Resistant varieties may be used with some plants. Under greenhouse conditions, manipulation of temperature and humidity may keep the presence of mildew to a minimum. Spray with the following materials:

1. Sulfur Wettable four to 3 tablespoons per one gallon of water.
2. Dinitrocaprylphenyl crotonate one-half to 1 tablespoon per one gallon of water. (Mildex, Karathane).
3. Dust with sulfur or 1 per cent Dinitrocaprylphenyl crotonate.

"Bonsai", Living Art Form Explained in New Handbook

Windblown, gnarled and twisted trees that grow in the rocky crevices of high mountains may live for a century or more, yet remain dwarfed throughout their existence.

Their life struggle against adversity brings out qualities rarely seen in large trees growing at lower elevations. When grown in appropriate pots, they become a form of living art — the long-famous "bonsai" (pronounced "bone-sigh") of Japan.

The practice of growing such trees goes back many hundreds of years, says Dr. George S. Avery in the "Handbook on Dwarfed Potted Trees," just published by the Brooklyn Botanic Garden.

Whereas the most picturesque bonsai plants, in private collections, may be at least a half century old most of the specimens we see in this country are "cultural dwarfs" that have been developed from young plants grown from seed of cuttings, ordinary nursery stock, or somewhat dwarfed trees found growing wild.

THESE are trained to remain dwarfed, rather than being dwarfed by heredity. Kan Yashiroda, of Japan, the editor of this Handbook, explains in great detail how each type of plant should be cared for and trained to make a beautiful bonsai tree.

In this enlarged and revised edition of the Bonsai Handbook, there are 16 articles, written for the most part by Japan's leading authorities, which have been carefully edited to adapt them to American conditions. The experience gained from maintaining the Brooklyn Botanic Garden's nationally famous bonsai collection has been drawn upon heavily in preparing this new edition.

Subjects covered include selection of suitable plants, how to grow miniature potted plants, the bonsai culture of various azaleas, flowering trees, wisteria, Japanese zelkova, bald cypress and many kinds of evergreens.

The key steps in bonsai culture—pruning the top and the roots, wiring the branches, repotting, and proper soil mixtures—are fully explained and illustrated. There are separate items on suitable tools and containers to use.

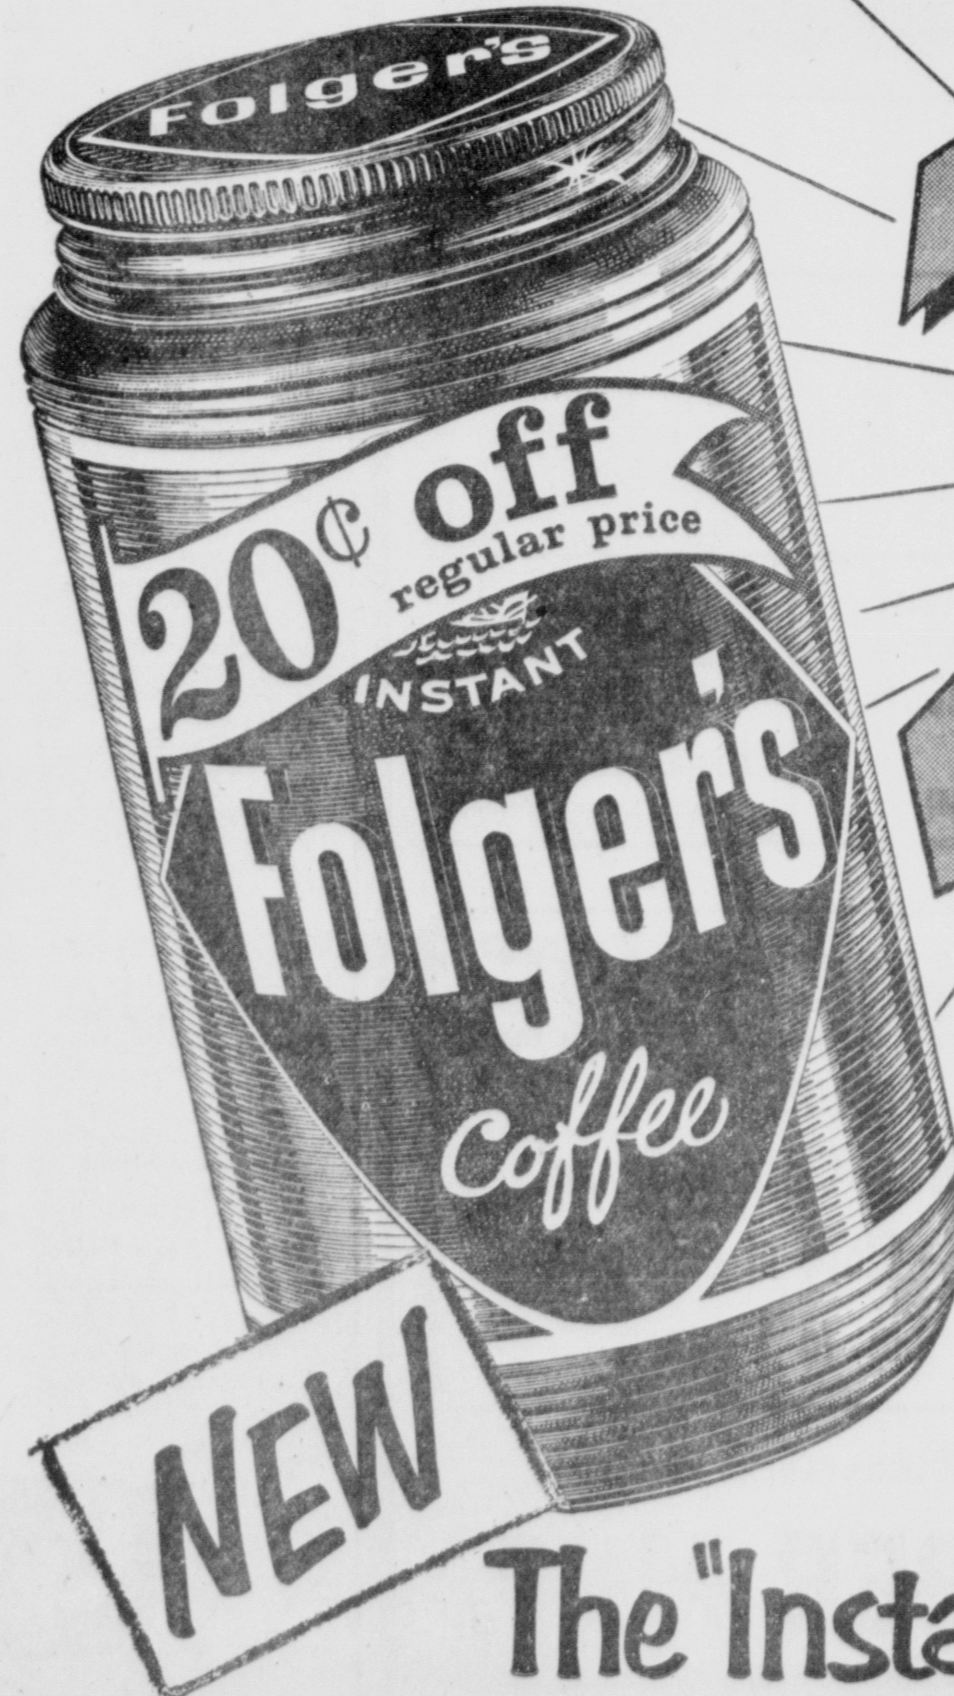

The "Handbook on Dwarfed Potted Trees" is one of a series of popular guides, published and distributed nationally as an educational service by the Garden. It contains 96 pages and 117 halftones and line cuts. This Handbook may be obtained for one dollar from the Brooklyn Botanic Garden, Brooklyn 25, New York.

Beau Jack, former lightweight boxing champion of the world, is now shining shoes in Miami Beach.

South Continues Its Slow Use of Token Integration

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Integration of public schools in Delaware counties that had opposed race mixing began peacefully Wednesday.

Thirty Negro children entered first grades in nine of the state's 94 school districts in the southern counties of Kent and Sussex. Other grades will be integrated, one a year, under a court order favoring gradual change as a means of lessening emotional strain.

Public schools in northern New Castle County, which contains about half the state's population, were integrated five years ago. About half of the 14,000 Negro pupils in the state are in schools previously integrated.

While only 30 Negro pupils were registered for the opening term, school officials said others could apply and be accepted anytime.

An elementary school in Milford where violence developed five years ago during efforts to integrate a high school opened its doors to four Negro girls Wednesday without incident.

In Florida's first experiment in public school integration, seven more white children entered Orchard Villa Elementary School in Miami, bringing attendance to 15 whites and four Negroes. There were only eight white pupils in class when the Negroes were admitted for the first time Tuesday.

White residents have been moving from the neighborhood, now predominately Negro, and 93 additional Negroes have applied for admission to the school.

Richard W. Ervin, attorney general, said the scarcity of white pupils at the school demonstrates that Florida is not yet ready for classroom integration.

Spread of token integration brought a blast against racial moderates from Mississippi's Gov. elect Ross Barnett.

Barnett charged moderates planned to move into his state in the next four years as part of a campaign to pick off Southern states one by one. The South should unite with pro-segregation Citizens Councils to fight attempts at integration, he said.

Barnett told a Citizens Council meeting at Jackson, Miss., Tuesday night that moderates "are nothing more than Southern burglars. They want to rob us of our priceless heritage, and they tell us that we shouldn't complain as long as they steal it a little bit at a time."

At the time he was speaking, an FBI laboratory expert moved into Little Rock, Ark., to assist in the probe of three bombings linked to token integration at the schools there.

A $25,000 reward was posted for solution of the dynamite Monday night of the school board building, the mayor's office and the fire chief's official car. Police armed with riot guns patrolled the city streets and guarded the schools.

State police were alerted in southern Delaware for the start of grade-a-year integration in largely rural Kent and Sussex counties. Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, a Republican, said his people were law-abiding and would honor the federal court order. Many schools in the northern area around Wilmington were integrated without incident five years ago.

At Nashville, U. S. Dist. Judge William E. Miller reproached public school officials in Tennessee for not complying voluntarily with the U. S. Supreme Court segregation ruling.

"Why don't they act instead of having to be forced?" he asked during a hearing on a suit to admit 16 children of Negro airmen at Sewart Air Force Base to an all-white county school at Smyrna.

Miller gave the school commission a week to submit an integration plan.

Railway stations in Japan now have large signs, printed in both English and Japanese, giving the name of the town or city.

The first integrated public school classes began without disorder in Florida. Four Negroes entered Miami's Orchard Villa Elementary School with eight white pupils.

Two more Virginia communities admitted Negroes to previously white schools, bringing to 80 the number of Negroes in integrated class rooms. The state's public school system has 800,000 pupils.

Twenty-one Negroes joined more than 300 white youngsters at Warren County High in Front Royal. There was no violence.

At Charlottesville, nine Negroes attended formerly all-white Venable Elementary and three registered with more than 70 white pupils at Lane High.

About two million children started classes in Texas where 101 of the 1,646 school districts are desegregated. Two Negro couples tried to enroll their children in white public schools at Fort Worth. They left without protest when officials said Fort Worth schools would remain segregated this term.

City parks remained closed at Montgomery, Ala., after a federal integration plan. Only three Tennessee public school systems have started integration. They are at Oak Ridge, Clinton and Nashville.

Ashville To Field Experienced Squad

Ashville High School football rosters are looking forward to one of its team's best seasons since the gridiron squad entered 11-man competition.

And with good reason, since head coach Russell Gregg has the most experienced team in the three years the pigskin group has played in the Darby Valley League.

The Broncos made "minicameo" out of County competition in the six-man football league, but after taking on DV League competition, it hasn't fared as well.

Gregg said today that he didn't know how much quality he had, but felt that he will have more depth in quantity than ever experienced at Ashville.

LEADING THE probable stalwarts on the rugged Bronco line will be All-Darby Valley League guard Steve Stover. He will have able support from Chuck McNeal, Tom Bausum, Dale Fout, Jim Brown, Jim McCord, Dick Wilcox, Ken Cummins and Phil Reese.

Backfield men showing signs of varsity ability to date are Jim McNeal, Dick Noggle, Bill Cromley and Clarence Bandy.

Gregg feels that if several present darkhorse candidates come through with sparkling performances, Ashville could cop the DV League this year.

The Bronco eleven again will employ the winged-T with flankers and slot-backs. Defensively Gregg will use a basic 5-4 with 6-2 and 7-1 alternates employed interchangeably.

Tuesday evening the Broncos battled Canal Winchester in a scrimmage, dropping a 12-0 contest. The one damaging deficit realized from the practice was Ashville's weak right side that the Franklin County youths ran for both touchdowns.

This was Ashville's initial scrimmage and Gregg feels it was exceptionally worthwhile. Naturally a few blocking assignments were missed, but pitchouts to the right side caused the most damage.

WILCOX, NOGGLE and Bandy were standouts offensively, while Jim McNeal, Cromley, Reese and Jim Gregg did man-size jobs on defense.

The practice game lasted 1½ hours and went a long way in preparing Ashville for its football Preview at Frankfort tomorrow.

Steve Stover was a thorn in Winchester's side all night and Dale Fout's three successful passes kept Canal Winchester's defense loose.

Ashville will battle Amanda for two quarters during the Preview, starting their play at 8:45 p. m. Frankfort will face Paint Valley in the first contest.

The first two elevens shape up as follows for the Broncos with height and weight following the Richmond had N Haven knocked off the favorites Wednesday night as the International League best-of-seven semifinal playoffs got underway.

Richmond used pennant-winner Buffalo's favorite weapon, the home run, to belt the Bisons 8-4 and Havana zipped by Columbus, the second place team, 5-3.

Fritz Brickell's three-run, sixth-inning homer propelled Richmond to its victory. Deron Johnson started the fireworks two innings earlier with a two-run homer.

Ray Shearer's eighth-inning home run broke a 2-2 tie to send Havana on the way. It came off reliever Dave Jimenez, who struck out 11 Cubans in six innings. Havana niled it down with a pair in the ninth. Joe Christopher hit a two-run homer for Columbus.

Joe Gibbon started for Columbus but didn't survive the third inning. Ted Wianeand got the victory, scattering five hits in the eight innings he worked.

Redlegs Aim For 4th Place Finish in NL

CHICAGO (AP)—Fourth place in the National League still beckons for the Cincinnati Reds but so does a chance for Manager Fred Hutchinson to get a look at youngsters he may want to use in 1960.

Hutchinson has had a good long look, of course, at first - year pitchers Jim O'Toole and Jay Hook. Wednesday he added outfielder Buddy Gilbert and third baseman Cliff Cook, both brought up from Nashville, to the cast.

And today he's going to try southpaw Jim Bailey, also called in from Nashville. Bailey is a brother of Redleg catcher Ed Bailey.

Jim Bailey and O'Toole are scheduled to pitch the second straight doubleheader against the Chicago Cubs.

The Reds currently stand only 2½ games out of fourth place and, even with some rookies in the lineup, they opened up two games of daylight Wednesday between themselves and the sixth - place Cubs with 4-2 and 7-2 victories.

The first game went 10 innings and the second was called after five innings because of darkness. There was a half-hour delay in the first contest because of rain.

Gilbert played in right field in both games and failed to get a hit in six times at bat. Cook played third base in the second contest and went hitless in two at-bats.

In the opener, Bob Purkey broke a six-game losing streak although Brooks Lawrence pitched the last half of the 10th after Purkey had been lifted for a pinch hitter.

Hook, wild and ineffective, failed to get through the second inning in the nightcap but Joe Nuxhall, returning after an injury layoff, stopped the Cubs the rest of the way.

Colts Banking On Healy Unitas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Consider the plight of Baltimore coach Weeb Ewbank if something should happen to sideline quarterback Johnny Unitas, the passing wizard who pitched the Colts to the National Football League championship last season.

With No. 2 signal-caller George Shaw peddled to the New York Giants, Ewbank has only defensive specialists Andy Nelson and Ray Brown as insurance against an injury to Unitas, who had to sit out a couple of key games during the 1958 campaign with fractured ribs.

Tuesday Ewbank took the initial steps to prepare for such an eventuality and rectify what could become of dangerous situation.

Step No. 1 is the assigning of Brown, who played offensively in college at Mississippi, to the starting quarterback role for Sunday's meeting with the Eagles at Philadelphia. Nelson will be given a thorough test for the remainder of the exhibition schedule.

Step No. 2 concerns shoring up the Colts pass protection. After reviewing films of Baltimore's last outing against Pittsburgh, Ewbank said the team's pass protection "wasn't good enough," and cautioned: "It had better improve."

In the Green Bay camp, new coach Vince Lombardi learned that former All-America end Ron Kramer is expected out of service shortly and will rejoin the Packers.

Lombardi also said Alex Hawkins, former South Carolina standout, likely will draw the starting halfback assignment for the Packers' nationally televised game with Washington at Winston-Salem, N. C., Saturday night.

The Redskins, meanwhile, bolstered their defensive backfield by buying halfback Bill Stits from San Francisco. The 'Skins gave up a draft choice to get the five-year veteran.

The Giants trimmed their roster to 44, dropping Soph halfback Don Maynard, used almost exclusively on running back punts last year; defensive half Sid Williams, and defensive end Jon Jelacic.

New Science Teaching Plan Being Urged

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Problems created by a growing population call for application of a new type of science to give the student "some perspective of the world in which we live," says Dr. Paul B. Sears, chairman of the Yale University conservation program. Dr. Sears said his idea would mean diverting science education away from specialization. It is true, he said, "That we need more scientists. But it is also true that we need a greater understanding of what the pursuit of science means."

Dr. Sears spoke Tuesday night at the opening of a four-day conference at Defiance College to strengthen science programs and teaching in liberal arts colleges. The meeting is financed by an $8.50 grant from the National Science Foundation.

These are some of the problems Dr. Sears sees ahead: An overgrowth of population, loss of water and productive land as cities and highways spread, depletion of mineral resources, pollution of lakes and streams.

To meet these challenges, he said, all branches of science teaching and research should be coordinated. He pointed out that soil conservation, for example, involves a wide range of subjects taught in colleges and universities.

Because chemistry is basic in many areas of scientific investigation, chemists in liberal arts colleges are "in a very strategic position to exert leadership" among their colleagues in all branches of science, Dr. Sears said.

Chemistry faculty members from 45 liberal arts colleges are attending the conference.

New General Motor Small Car Unveiled

DETROIT (AP)—Chevrolet officially joined the small car battle today with details on its new Corvair, America's first car with the engine in the rear.

Ford unveiled its small Falcon a week ago. Still to come from the big three automakers is Chrysler's Valiant. It will be along in November. The Corvair will go on sale Oct. 2; the Falcon on Oct. 9.

The Corvair has an air-cooled, six-cylinder engine made mostly of aluminum. This engine is mounted in what up to now always has been the trunk compartment on American cars. The location is the same as in the Volkswagen and Renault, the two sales leaders among foreign cars.

The Corvair will be built at first only in four-door sedan models. These will weigh 2,375 pounds. They will be 15 feet long, about 2 1/4 feet shorter than the 1959 Chevrolet; 4 feet 3 inches high and 5 feet 7 inches wide. It will have about 90 horsepower. A two-door model will be offered early next year.

Like the other two new compact cars, the Corvair will have a unitized body—a one piece unit rather than a body shell bolted to a frame. Rambler also uses this type of body construction.

Ed Cole, Chevrolet's general manager, told a national press preview today that the Corvair will get 25 to 40 per cent better mileage than the standard Chevrolet six-cylinder model.

Ohio City Youth Hurt in Fatal Crash

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—A 69-year-old man was killed Wednesday night when an automobile crashed into the rear of his tractor, splitting it in half.

Coroner R. J. Biery said Albert Johnson died of a broken neck.

The car, driven by 18-year-old Larry Shaw of Ohio City, went on to sideswipe an oncoming automobile and veer into a yard along West Elm Street here. Shaw was injured.

A Final Demonstration Climaxing Ford's 3 Years and 3 Million Miles of Research and Development on the New Ford Falcon... EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A.

A fleet of Falcons is going to undergo a final exhausting test... over every single mile of numbered U.S. Federal Highway... along a crisscross route that will include the ups and downs of two major mountain ranges, the challenges of every type of roadway and thway, main street and boulevard.

TODAY...10 P.M. THE NEW-SIZE FORD STARTS ON ITS WAY TO YOU!

The Falcon, the New-Size Ford, already is the most thoroughly tested and proven new car in history. Today this new Ford Falcon starts EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A., over every mile of numbered U.S. highway

This is not a test run in the ordinary sense of the word. For in its 3 years of development and over 3 million miles of proving, the Falcon has already passed and repassed every kind of test that could be devised.

It's been dust-tested, heat-tested, and endurance-tested on the test track at Kingman, Arizona. Wind-tested and rain-tested in the 300 mph wind tunnel at the University of Maryland. Shock-tested, curve-tested, brake-tested, noise-tested, paint-tested, stability-tested, service-tested... everything tested on Ford's own proving grounds. The Falcon has already proved to engineers that it takes anything they can dish out.

Now, Experience Run, U.S.A. will show you what the Falcon can do over your kind of roads. How many miles to the gallon? Records will be kept of every drop of gas used. Better gas mileage? The Falcon will average up to 30 miles per gallon!

On October 8, the New-size Ford will be at your Ford Dealer's... for you to experience. See your Ford Dealer today for more information on the Ford Falcon.
